Final Preparations Being Made By Lindberghs On Their Big Sea-plane

PERILOUS HOP WILL BE FACED

Flight Over Great Circle Course Will Take Fliers About 7,100 Miles

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 27.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were making final preparations today for their 7,100-mile flight to Tokio, one of the most perilous of all the famous American aviator's adventures. They are not expected to hop off before Wednesday, however.

Lindbergh was expected to pay a visit today to the plant of an airplane company at College Point, Queens, where his monoplane has been overhauled, converted to a sea-plane and equipped with instruments and special tanks for the trip to the Orient.

PA NEW OBSERVES

And now Pa Newc discovers that there is a fine specimen of the old time hitching post standing on Wallace avenue near North Mercer street. It is of stone, and apparently has been standing for many years.

Pa Newc learns that weekly passes are issued to car riders in Youngstown, Warren, and other places on the system. Why not give New Castle folks the same privilege, Pa Newc asks?

With the roasting car season coming on apace, and the indications of a bumper crop locally, every step should be taken here to save the surplus that is not needed at the present time. In many homes the surplus corn will be dried and kept for the winter, while in others it will be canned. But, whatever is done, do not waste any of the surplus. Can or dry it for winter use.

Pa Newc believes that the resurfacing on North Jefferson street should be given some attention. Numerous holes are appearing in the resurfacing that should be repaired. North Jefferson street is probably travelled more extensively than any other street in the city by strangers going through and it is from its streets that a city is judged by outsiders. It is not much of a contract to repair these holes at the present time and Pa Newc thinks it should be done at once.

Travelers, or the camper-tourist kind at any rate, don't halt over week ends. Contrary to the belief

BALLOON FROM DETROIT LANDS AT MT. JACKSON

Lawrence Furlow, young Akron balloonist who started out at 5 p. m. Saturday from Detroit in "Good-year No. 7", an Akron balloon, in a race sponsored by a Detroit newspaper, landed on the McClelland Mill road, Mount Jackson, at 1:15 p. m. Sunday after traveling 20 hours.

The descent was made near the farm of J. H. Wilson off the Mt. Jackson road, just a mile and a half from the Seventh ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had just returned from church when they observed the balloon making the descent. Mrs. Wilson said:

"I thought at first the balloon would land on our roof."

Hundreds from Mount Jackson and the Seventh ward quickly gathered around the balloonist. The balloon was emptied of its gas and hauled to Akron on a truck of Dave Pitzer.

Furlow explained that he had

Stimson Is Convinced Germany Will Meet Crisis With Success

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 27.—A short visit has convinced me that Germany will pull through," Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, told German newspapermen today shortly before he was scheduled to leave Berlin by airplane for London.

"The president and the people of the United States," he said to the reporters, "trust that Germany will overcome the crisis which I consider mainly a temporary lack of confidence. I do not have the slightest doubt but that Germany, through pluck and her own resources, will restore confidence within a measurable time."

"I also have the greatest respect for and confidence in President Von Hindenburg, who is the winning master of the situation."

Ten Meet Death In Auto Wrecks; Report 36 Hurt

Survey Shows Ten Killed And Heavy Injured List Over Week-End

CENTRAL REGION HAS FOUR DEAD

(International News Service)
Central Pennsylvania headed the week-end traffic death list reporting four of the ten fatalities exacted in motoring accidents, according to a statewide checkup by International News Service today.

The central region reported 24 injured, the highest toll in the state. The heavily populated urban centers at either end of the state reported three killed each.

Of the 36 injured the Philadelphia district reported the low count with but three injured. Western Pennsylvania recorded the remaining nine.

Dead and Injured.
The list of dead and injured throughout the state follows:
At New Castle—George Lanko, 25, of Struthers, O., killed in collision on New Castle-Youngstown road, and four others injured.
At Pittsburgh—One woman hurt when thrown through a windshield

Man Is Killed, Five Are Hurt In Auto Crash

George Lanko, 25, instantly Killed On New Castle-Youngstown Road

Accident Happened ON STRAIGHT ROAD

Alleged Lanko Was Driving On Wrong Side And Ran Into Virgil Seck

George Lanko, 25 of Struthers, O., had his skull crushed, and was instantly killed about 12:30 this morning, when a car he was driving crashed into a car driven by Virgil Seck, 26, of Butler, near Five Points on the New Castle and Youngstown road.

Five other persons were injured in the crash, none of them seriously. Joe Jonda of Struthers, who was in the Lanko machine, escaped with a cut on his wrist, and some bruises. Paul Walsh, the Misses Marguerite Graham and Velma Phillips and Virgil Seck, in the Seck car all suffered cuts and bruises, but fortunately no bones were broken and their injuries do not appear to be of a serious nature. All are able to be about today.

Investigate Crash

Coroner J. P. Caldwell, and State Patrolmen, H. N. Ardinger and M. P. Sarko, who are conducting an investigation, learned that the car driven by Lanko was proceeding west toward Youngstown, the Seck car was coming toward New Castle.

Virgil Seck, the driver, says that he saw the Lanko car coming toward him when it was a considerable distance ahead. The road is comparatively straight near five points and one can see for a distance of possibly half a mile.

As the Lanko car neared Seck, the latter realized that it was being driven on the wrong side of the road. Seck thought the driver would pull off to his own side, but he did not, and as the Lanko car came closer, Seck, in an attempt to avoid an accident, pulled to the left, but it was too late and the Seck car hit the Lanko car on the right; back of the center part.

The Lanko car was overturned and came to a stop, a short distance from the scene of the crash. The Seck car was not overturned. Occupants of the Seck car and some other motorists who chanced along liberated Joe Jonda and a young woman from the Lanko car. Lanko was found dead, his skull badly crushed. State Policeman Ardinger and Sarko arrived soon after the accident and assisted in clearing up the wreck.

Occupants of the Seck car were brought to the home of Seck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Seck of 33 North Jefferson street, this city. A physician was called, examined them and rendered such aid as he deemed necessary.

Disarmament Is Stimson's Theme In German Parley

U. S. Secretary Leaves Berlin For London In Plane This Afternoon

ENDS CONFERENCE WITH HINDENBURG

Stimson Secures Much First Hand Information On German Situation

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 27.—Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, hopped off by airplane for Amsterdam where he will board a boat for London at 1:25 p. m. today, terminating a whirlwind visit to Germany during which he discussed with German government leaders the problems of world disarmament.

While here he conferred with President Paul von Hindenburg, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning, Foreign Minister Julius Curtius and other German government and financial leaders, obtaining a great deal of first-hand information of the German situation.

Secretary Stimson left Berlin shortly after the British foreign secretary, Arthur Henderson had arrived, and while Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald was enroute to Berlin for a "chequers" conference with Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Curtius. The American Ambassador Frederick M. Sackett and a group of German officials were at the airport to say farewell to Stimson.

British Statesmen Arrive

The conversations of the British visitors here are expected to cover totally different ground than was the subject of Mr. Stimson's talks. The British statesmen are expected to discuss the German financial-economic situation, only partially relieved by the recommendations made by the London Seven-Power Conference.

Hungary Given Temporary Loan

Financial Crisis In Nation Is Relieved For Time By Action

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
BUDAPEST, July 27.—Premier Bethlen of Hungary today announced that a group of international banks had granted Hungary a loan of 7,000,000 pounds (approximately $34,020,000), temporarily relieving the Hungarian financial crisis.

France, which supplied almost one-half of the loan, was understood to have received the Hungarian government's agreement to suppress nationalist anti-French propaganda in Hungary, and the announcement of the loan was accompanied by a declaration by Premier Bethlen that "so long as this government is in power there will be no question of a restoration" of Archduke Otto to the Hungarian throne.

TEA ROOM PATRONS ROBBED BY BANDITS

Mass Robbery Plan Is Carried Out By Quartette Of Bandits

Robbers Make Sure That Pursuit Will Not Be Started At Once

(International News Service)
AMBRIDGE, Pa., July 27.—Four bandits who executed an ingenious and polite robbery of between 30 and 40 persons in the Hill Top Tea room on the Broadhead road near Aliquippa last night today were the object of an intensive police hunt.

All armed—but three of them wearing white masks—the bandits entered the place near midnight, quietly announced that a holdup was in progress and absconded with the valuables, money, watches, jewels of the tea room patrons.
Men and women were separated and ordered into separate rooms. With an efficiency that stamped them as veteran bandits and an ingenuity that matched their boldness, the robbers compelled the men patrons to remove their trousers, and, later, fouled the ignition systems of every machine outside the establishment to cover up their escape.

"That's just so you won't be in a hurry to follow us" the leader of the bandit group said of their precaution in forcing the men patrons to doff their trousers.

No estimate of the value of the loot was immediately obtainable.

Throughout the robbery, the four bandits showed extreme courtesy and politeness, all their victims told police.

Just before the bandits left, the leader told the men:

"The women are in another room. They haven't been harmed and will release you after we have gone."

The complete bravado and quiet efficiency of the robbers today made police term the holdup one of the most unusual cases they have ever experienced.

REPORT GRAF ZEPPELIN NOW OVER ARCTIC SEA

(International News Service)
LENINGRAD, Russia, July 27.—The Graf Zeppelin, carrying famous scientists and explorers into the far north on the third expedition by dirigible into the Arctic, was over the Arctic Sea today, according to a wireless message picked up in this city.

The message said that communication had already been established with the Soviet ice breaker Malgoun, lying somewhere in the vicinity of Franz Josef Land, which Dr. Eckener, in command of the Graf, said that he hoped to reach in 24 hours after his departure from Leningrad.

On the theory that the Graf had nothing to fear from ordinary bad weather, Commander Eckener left Leningrad yesterday at 11:10 a. m. (5:10 a. m. New York) despite an unfavorable meteorological report.

Six Injured As Yacht Explodes

Harry Richman, And Few Others Prominent On New York Stage Suffer Burns

ONE GIRL REPORTED IN SERIOUS SHAPE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 27.—Harry Richman, night club owner and actor, was suffering from minor burns and three of his guests, members of a Broadway cast, were in a hospital today, victims of an explosion and fire on the actor's cruiser yacht.

Helen Walsh was suffering from second degree burns and in serious condition. Virginia Biddle suffered minor burns and Gladys Glad was prostrated from shock. Mark Helinger, husband of Miss Glad and a New York newspaper columnist; Sam White, Marine captain, and Robert Levy, Richman's chauffeur, were severely burned.

Richman's yacht, the Chavalmar II, which he purchased two weeks ago, was wrecked by an explosion Sunday morning as the party boarded it at Greenport, Long Island. A load of gasoline had just been taken on board and gas was believed to have dripped to the engine where it was ignited by sparks.

Pay Tribute To Dr. W. C. Wallace

Rotarians Have Farewell For Former Westminster Head

PREXY IS GIVEN MEMORIAL GIFT

DR. W. CHARLES WALLACE

A farewell tribute was showered upon Dr. W. Charles Wallace, retired president of Westminster college, when his fellow Rotarians of the New Castle club met for their regular weekly luncheon in The Castle-ton today.

"Prexy," as he's known to the Rotarians, expects to depart from the district in the near future. His immediate plans have not yet been decided.

Dr. Wallace was the chief orator today, choosing "What Rotary Means To Me" as the theme for his address. It was a brilliant one, his discourse embracing the ideals of service and inspiration which the fellowship in Rotary here have steadfastly provided him.

Dr. Wallace had only concluded the impressive message, inspiring in itself, when a testimonial period began. Dr. C. C. Green, chairman for the program, called upon individual Rotarians who responded with fitting eulogies. They virtually overcame Dr. Wallace, who listened attentively, but with his head bowed.

Fred L. Rentz, J. Clyde Gillfillan, President L. B. Round and George Ferver, in appropriate, touching tributes, lauded "Prexy" as a man, a true friend, an educator, an administrator, a preacher and a "real Rotarian."

After the tributes, President Round handed to him an attractive desk pen set upon which had been engraved "Prexy—New Castle Rotary Club—July, 1931."

It was a hesitating response that Dr. Wallace gave, the occasion and the words of farewell threatening for a moment to overcome him. But quietly he concluded "I'll be lost outside of this fellowship," and sat down.

The meeting promptly ended.

Of many, the strange— apparently break camp Sunday mornings and pitch a new camp somewhere else that night. To watch the stream of motorists passing along East Washington street yesterday would leave one with that impression.

Pa New observed a fool driver, who evidently was a few minutes late for work, weaving his way in and around street cars and automobiles on the Highland hill this morning. He had two narrow escapes from colliding with other cars.

Roasting ears promise to become abundant in the markets this week. A number of local folks have been eating this luscious vegetable during the last few days, and several farmers have been observed in town with the first of their crop.

Evidently St. Swithin is having a bad year. It rained on July 15, but there have been several days since that there has been no rainfall locally. The old tradition is that if it rains on St. Swithin's day it will rain for 40 days.

Apparently work is to be started shortly on the construction of the water line extension from Carlisle street to North Mercer street on Fairfield avenue. The trench digging machine is on the ground. The water line extension is being made to provide for fire protection in the street, as a couple of hydrants will be placed.

Street department employees are doing some efficient work about the city, in enlarging storm sewer catch basins, and repairing holes in some of the paved streets.

A year ago, the county was beginning to feel the serious effects of the drouth, which enveloped the entire nation. Some relief was accorded Lawrence county, when a storm swept through the district, accompanied by a half inch of rainfall.

Evidently there was a fall of rain in the upper reaches of the Shenango last week that missed this locality. The Shenango rose several inches on Saturday, and then subsided again today.

Going through Wampum on Saturday evening, Pa New discovered that the traffic lights were not operating. Wonder why?

Well, well, Pa New was invited out to have a nice fresh roast of corn, right from the garden, and the invitation came from Mrs. A. R. Kerr, who is now furnishing corn on the cob from her garden on North Beaver street. Anyone else have new corn ready to eat?

The difference between a hot and cold job was in evidence downtown this morning. On a scorching rooftop of a Croton avenue building, were workmen applying a tar-like substance, while below them on the street was an ice truck helper, donned in a bathing suit jersey, lugging a heavy cake along without the slightest indication of any perspiration.

ference of last week, while Mr. Stimson's discussions were confined almost entirely to the subject of disarmament. International News Service learned from reliable authority.

Official comment on Stimson's visit was very scarce, but Stimson admitted that disarmament had been the chief topic of conversation.

International News Service learned that Mr. Stimson had endeavored to outline to the German leaders a program of German-American cooperation at the forthcoming World Disarmament Conference, to be held at Geneva next February. During the conference between Mr. Stimson and Minister of War Groener, it was understood, the controversy between France and Germany regarding the construction of the German "vest pocket" battleships was not even discussed.

This subject doubtless will be taken up when Premier MacDonald, Secretary Henderson, Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtin get together, following MacDonald's arrival here. The British visitors are expected to touch upon all phases of the disarmament, financial, political and other questions contributing to the general European crisis.

cident by Coroner Caldwell, all maintained that the Lanko car was being driven on the wrong side of the road.

Joe Jonda, who owned the car which Lanko was driving, was taken in custody by the state police. His story was that Lanko had a girl friend residing at Campbell, Ohio, whom he wanted to bring to New Castle. Jonda went along to Campbell, came to New Castle, and all three were sitting in the front seat when the accident occurred.

Jonda was unable to give any clear version of the accident. He was uncertain about the speed, and did not seem to be able to tell of what part of the road the car was being driven. About all he could tell was that there had been a crash.

The Campbell, Ohio, girl, whom Jonda claimed he did not know and could not remember her name, was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Campbell last night. Her story of the accident has not yet been secured. Jonda did not know on what street she lived in Campbell but said that he could find the place if taken to Campbell.

Jonda was taken to Campbell by State Policeman Ardinger and Charles Kelly today. They expect to bring the girl back with them. Jonda is being held as a witness. It is likely that Coroner Caldwell will hold an inquest this afternoon.

George Lanko, who was killed, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lanko of Fairchance, Pa. Besides his parents he is survived by one brother and one sister, who reside in Johnstown.

LINDBERGH MAY START WEDNESDAY ON TOKIO FLIGHT

22-foot metal pontoons. In the event of trouble that would necessitate a forced landing, it is Lindbergh's intention to drop down into water rather than light on land, owing to the rugged topography over which much of the hazardous flight will be made.

Before hopping off on this summer flight to Tokyo over a Great Circle course, Lindbergh will make one test flight to make certain the plane is in tip-top shape. Mrs. Lindbergh is expected to accompany him on the test trip to test the radio equipment of the plane.

The route selected by the Lindberghs would be fraught with many possibilities of disaster for any other than the cool, capable and indomitable "Lindy." Comparatively few persons—save the intrepid Canadian mail fliers, trappers and gold prospectors—have ventured over the dangerous wastes which the Lindberghs will traverse.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh may leave College Point this afternoon for Washington, D. C., in their plane, it was said. It may be, however, that the flight to Washington will be deferred until after the test trip has been made. Anyway, it is necessary that Lindbergh and his wife go to Washington to arrange passports to the countries which they expect to visit.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who is capable of taking her turn at the controls, has showed keen interest in the radio equipment of the plane. She stood exceptionally high in the wireless radio operation examination when she took government tests for her pilot's license.

McGRATH ENTERS MAYORALTY RACE

Second Ward Man Is Candidate For Republican Party Nomination

CHARLES E. McGRATH

Charles E. McGrath, of 139 Euclid Avenue, Second Ward, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for mayor. Mr. McGrath, who is a member of the local firm of Fischer and McGrath made the following statement:

"While many of my friends have known of my intention to enter the mayoralty race, I am making that announcement public today. I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, at the primaries to be held September 15th.

"First of all I emphasize the fact that I am not running as a politician. I have never been affiliated with any political group, nor have I taken part in any election for a political reason. What interest I have taken has been as a citizen endeavoring to get for his city and his state the most efficient government possible.

"My interest in the mayoralty race is that of a business man. It occurs to me that more business and less politics in city hall would be to the benefit of the taxpayers of the city. No one man can honestly promise to make any violent reductions of taxes but I can and do promise that if elected, the office of mayor will receive as careful, conscientious attention as has my own business, and that every dollar of tax money spent will be spent with the idea of getting a dollar's worth of return. More than this, nobody can promise and hope to fulfill.

"If nominated and elected there are a number of pledges to the people which I will endeavor to fulfill. "First, to secure for the taxpayers an equitable, sensible assessment of properties and a millage that is fair to the people and to the government of the city.

Second, a reorganization of the police department that will give New Castle a well trained and efficient law enforcement body of men who will work as a unit.

"Third, to keep down the expenditure of city funds within a reasonable limit and to see to it that we get a dollar's worth of service for a dollar expended.

"Fourth, to have the city administration co-operate with the county administration to the end that there will be no duplication of effort but rather a co-ordination of forces.

"Briefly, this is my platform. It is that of a business man, who for the past 30 years has been active in the business life of the city, one who is a property owner, believing in his city, and in its future, and who I elected will devote his entire time and energy towards the end that New Castle will be a better city in which to live."

Eight Suspects In Girl's Death Released Today

Seven Apache Indians And White Painter Released After Questioning In Arizona

HENRIETTA SCHMERLER

(International News Service) WHITE RIVER, Ariz., July 27.—Eight suspects detained for questioning in connection with the murder of Miss Henrietta Schmerler, University of Columbia co-ed, were at liberty today after being quizzed by federal and state authorities. Officers stated that the seven Apache Indians and W. R. Warner, a painter, could throw no light on the mysterious slaying of the girl.

With more than 100 young Indian bucks and three white men under surveillance, the United States secret service today joined forces with reservation executives and the state of Arizona to solve speedily the brutal murder.

"You can't say the 100 are under arrest, but they're just as much under arrest as the first seven Indians and Warner, the 40-year-old white painter we questioned," said a sheriff's deputy over the telephone to International News Service. "We hope to find the man or men who attacked and killed Miss Schmerler if we have to question the entire tribe."

great difficulty in getting started from Detroit Saturday evening. He was one of the seven entries in the race. He flew over the Detroit-Canada vicinity for a long time, he said. The wind blew his balloon over Canada and back to Detroit several times. He was in Canada three times.

For the rest of Saturday night the balloon flew over Lake Erie.

The landing here was his first since the start. An affidavit of his landing in Lawrence county was made before Alderman W. E. Marshall. Furcalow arrived at the alderman's office accompanied by Arthur Lusk and H. C. Reed of the Mt. Jackson road. The air adventurer left for Akron last night.

Following his landing here, Furcalow dined at the Bill Pitts home in Mount Jackson.

LUNACY PROBE OF MINE KILLER NEARING END

the Mercer jail on Friday night Demofanti has been quiet. His wound, where he was shot in the groin by George Masters, storekeeper of Number Two, is healing and the man is resting quietly. The guard is maintained over him constantly to take every precaution against his breaking loose again.

Boy Will Recover
Little Tony Ciciliani, 9 year old lad who was shot by the killer has taken a definite turn towards recovery and the physicians in charge seem confident that he will ultimately recover fully. Mrs. Mike Bonanni and her daughter Flora, both stabbed by the killer are improving and should be discharged from the hospital soon.

Gaston Divillica, the community cobbler who was killed by Demofanti when the cobbler attempted to pacify him, was buried this morning in Grove City, marking the burial of the last of the mania's five victims.

New Castle High In State Records

From a report received by Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, New Castle stands second highest in the second class school districts of the state in the number of teachers who are college graduates. Reading stands first with 42.8 percent of all teachers being college graduates and New Castle comes next with 40.1 percent. Scranton is low with 19.4 percent.

In the past ten years the number of college graduates in the New Castle schools has increased 23.8 percent.

PRETTY WEDDING AT NEW BEDFORD TODAY

A pretty wedding took place today at high noon when Miss Julian Ann McClenahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClenahan of New Bedford, became the bride of Clyde R. Kelley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Festus Kelley of Salin, West Virginia.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate families, and two guests, the Misses Florence Minner of New Wilmington, and Ruth Williams of Youngstown, O., classmates of the bride.

The bride who was lovely in a gown of white moire with a long full skirt made with numerous dainty ruffles, and fitted bodice, carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Her sister Miss Ellen McClenahan, was chosen as maid of honor, was attired in a gown of pale yellow moire fashioned on the same pattern, and her arm cluster was of the Talsman roses.

James Shields, a cousin of the bride, served as best man. Before an altar which was beautifully embanked with garden flowers, ferns and select blooms of the season, the Rev. Henry Ostermeier, pastor of the New Bedford United Presbyterian church, officiated with the single ring service.

Immediately following the congratulatory period, a wedding dinner was served in the dining room at a table which was decorated in keeping with the wedding appointments. A large tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, formed the centerpiece. Tones of yellow and white predominated throughout. Places were laid for nine guests.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley left for an extended motor trip, their destination, which was kept a secret, and upon their return will take up their residence at 1128 Oak Hill avenue, Youngstown, O., where the former is affiliated with the Voshcek Funeral home. For traveling the bride wore a suit of brown summer wool with beige accessories.

Mrs. Kelley is a graduate of the local Senior high school, with the class of '27 and of the Youngstown hospital at Youngstown, O., training school for nurses. She graduated in '30, and has done considerable nursing.

Mr. Kelley graduated from the Salem, West Virginia Academy in '25, attended the Salem college, and graduated from Columbus Training school for Embalmers.

Ve-Ri-Ga Club
Members of the Ve-Ri-Ga Bridge Club went to Cascade Park Sunday morning for breakfast. After the menu had been served at an early hour, swimming in the Glenn pond was enjoyed.

The next meeting of the Club will be held on August 6 with Mrs. Ed Frey of Miller avenue, as hostess.

LA-SECRET MEMBERS MEETING DELIGHTFUL

The La-Secret Kensington members motored to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Snyder near Volant on Friday in the form of a surprise where they spent the day. The morning hours were enjoyed in the morning hours about the home and land surrounding it, and at noon a sumptuous picnic dinner was served at one large table arranged on the lawn, which marked places for 26 guests. A bowl of sweet peas formed the centerpiece. Following this feature, the hours were spent informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder formerly lived on Ray street of this city.

Among the guests who took part were: Mrs. David Ritchie, Mrs. John Bevan and children, Doris and Wayne, Mrs. George Carr and son Walter, Mrs. R. J. Swanton, and daughter Irma, Mrs. S. M. Moore and daughters Vivian and Frances, Mrs. Rose Gardner, Mrs. R. W. Emery and children, Beryl, Virginia, Dorothy and Eleanor, Mrs. J. A. Thompson and daughters Thelma and Agnes and the honor guests and sons Chuck and Joe and Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Hanna of Ray street. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Carr, Delaware avenue in August.

TEMPLE ISRAEL PLANS FOR OUTING EVENT

The congregation of Temple Israel, of which Rabbi J. Menkes is the pastor, have plans all completed for the annual outing and frolic at Cascade Park Wednesday.

A program of races and games for the children will begin at 4:30 under the direction of Mrs. M. Blau and at 6:30 in the Grove there will be a picnic dinner served with Mrs. M. Schoenberg, Mrs. D. Silverman, Mrs. E. Shenkan and Mrs. William Blau looking after these arrangements.

Mrs. H. Cukerbaum is chairman of transportation. It is anticipated that every scholar of the Sunday school and every member of the congregation will be out for this affair.

Lutz Reunion.

The annual Lutz reunion was held Saturday at Camp Coral, near the Wurttemberg bridge with approximately 150 relatives and friends participating. Two sisters of the original Lutz family, Mrs. W. C. Wimer who is 81 years old, and Mrs. Andrew Glasser, who is 79 years old, were present, and took an active part in this happy gathering.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock at large tables which were prettily decorated for the occasion. At the close of serving, the hours were spent in swimming, baseball, stunts, contests of various kinds, and the renewing of friendships. Preceding the entertainment, a business meeting was called and the following officers elected: President, Albert Lutz; vice-president, Willard Lutz; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Albert Lutz. Plans for the reunion to be held in 1931 will be announced a short time previous to the date decided upon.

See Dirigible.
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Suber and sons, Elmer and Cecil, Jr., Hillcrest avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Suber, Bell avenue, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McClellan, Akron, Ohio, Sunday and viewed the giant dirigible, which is nearing completion.

TALK FOREST FIRES
Members of Epworth M. E. Boy Scout Troop No. 10 held their regular weekly meeting at troop headquarters in the new Epworth church on July 24. Scoutmaster C. W. Hicks was in charge.

The meeting was opened with prayer and the scout oath. A number of scouts received their forest guide badges and pledge cards. A discussion followed on the very important subject of forest fires, some of the causes and preventions that can be taken by forest guards.

A number of bulletins were received from the institute of makers of explosives. The bulletins are part of a campaign to protect children from blasting caps. They show a blank cap on the card and describe it so children will know what they are like and will leave them alone. It might be well to mention here that about 500 children are injured every year by playing with blasting caps.

Scout Donald Book was inducted into the troop and received his tenderfoot badge and certificate.

After playing a game, the troop members repeated the allegiance to the flag and scout benediction and were dismissed.

CALL TROOP MEETING

All members of the First Christian church Boy Scout troop 15 are requested to meet at the church at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, July 28, for a special meeting. Special meetings will be held during the month of August and the regular meetings will be started in September.

CONTROL OF CONGRESS

DEATH has slightly favored the Democratic party in the struggle between the two major political parties for control of the lower branch of congress, but when congress convenes next December it probably will be found that the grim reaper is no respecter of parties.

The congressional election last November reduced the Republican majority in the house of representatives to two. Seven deaths since then have cut that majority to one, or to none if the Farmer-Laborite member is counted anti. That majority is still subject to change, for, according to actuaries, five more members of the house will die before congress again goes into session. Anything from a still larger Republican majority to a Democratic majority is possible.

With the strength of the two parties so near equal a numerical majority is not essential to control of the house. The Republican insurgents and the one Farmer Laborite will hold the balance of power, because they can cast the deciding vote. They will be in a position to force their choice of speaker and committee chairmen upon the party they finally deal with.

It is not a happy prospect. There, perhaps, never was a time when the nation so much needed a prompt organization of congress and a working majority in both houses large enough to disarm purely partisan opposition. When this congress convenes it will have before it matters upon the expeditious disposal of which the welfare of the country will largely depend. Delay and controversy will be at the peril of the nation.

With congress a huge question mark, the economic and political future of the country is also something of a question mark.

NEW DEMOCRATIC DILEMMA

Democracy is passing through its "leap year" of indecision concerning the national issues of the day. Her leaders are struggling with the profound problem of deciding whether the party shall be wet, dry or straddlesome. Wet and defeated in 1928, they now draw lots for the winning colors for 1932.

Chairman Farley, of the New York State Democracy, on a speaking trip through the West discovered the difficulties that beset the national politician in shaping and following a wet-dry course that will be adjustable to all conditions in all parts of the country.

When he left home he was under instructions to stress the economic problems and to shelve the prohibition question. But in the heat of debate he either forgot or ignored his instructions.

In one address he strayed from the reservation to the following extent:

"Economic issues will overshadow the prohibition issue. The Democratic party unquestionably will take a more liberal position than the Republican party, but I have no idea what stand the national convention will take on the question."

Farther West he said:
"Governor Roosevelt was elected twice on a wet platform and there is no doubt where he stands on prohibition, but it will be more important in 1932 whether the voter has something to eat than whether he has something to drink."

Both utterances ought to be evasive and ambiguous for the most adept fence straddler, but some of Chairman Farley's associates seem to be displeased and alarmed. Strategy at this stage of the game, in their estimation, consists of fooling the voters by saying nothing.

CONTENTMENT

We have journeyed far from the happy days of the willow pole with a butcher's string line, fixed with hooks 10 for a dime, whose compelling lure was one segment of an angle worm, and whose incantation was spitting on the bait.

Tackle manufacturers are nothing if not ingenious. They have invented all manner of preposterous lures that would be laughed off the face of the waters if some fish weren't fool enough to fall for them. They have scoured the world for bamboo, lacquer, tin, nickel, feathers and all the other ingredients of rod and reel and fly. Yet to what purpose? The time between bites is getting longer and longer.

Yet there never was a time when men's souls were in greater need of that refreshment which only the disciples of Izaak Walton know.

The fishing beatitudes are much amplified since the day of the patron saint of the fishermen, for he did not spend his major life answering a bell. He never got the "jumps" from traffic signals or the ticker. The blessings of fishing include not only Edgar Guest's "wash of the soul" with pure air, but they also now include discipline in the equality of men, meekness and inspiration before the works of nature, charity and patience toward tackle makers and the fish, a mockery of profits and conceits, a quieting of hate and a hushing to ambition, a rejoicing and gladness that you do not have to decide another thing until next week.

THE WEEK-END TOLL

These summer holidays and week-ends, when thousands take to the highways for enjoyment, are always viewed with apprehension that the short vacation will be marred by shocking fatalities. Reckless driving, here a collision, there a grade crossing disaster, and other hazards will claim their toll, it is feared. At best, with so many automobiles abroad, experience has shown that distressing loss of life is all too certain to occur.

Sometimes the actual record is comparatively free from serious accidents. If due to good fortune, that is something to be thankful for, but it would be more encouraging if one could believe that caution, good judgment and consideration of drivers for others played its part in these usual and gratifying showings. That could be taken to indicate permanent advance in safety of the highways.

Why cannot every holiday and week-end be comparatively free from serious accidents? A little care, a few good road manners and periodical inspections of automobiles would do the trick. But it seems to be asking the impossible to expect human beings to be careful, courteous and systematic.

AN ACTUAL DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION

The pension lists have frequently shown how long participants in a war on their immediate descendants may live. Yet it is rather odd to hear of six surviving daughters of men who actually fought in the War of the Revolution. One of these has reached the age of 92, and it is unlikely that any of the other five can be much younger.

This real D. A. R. was born when her father was 74, the child of his third wife. It is a matter of simple arithmetic to conclude that he was a mere boy when the fighting was on. There is, of course, nothing unusual in that circumstance. In all our wars young lads have joined the colors, sometimes, it is to be feared, lying about their age.

All Of Us

Oh, Why So Sad!
Load Not Entirely on Your Shoulders
Why So Arrogant!

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Young Fellow, why so solemn?
Young Lady, why wear so mad a face?

Laugh a little! Be silly occasionally! The time you spend in being silly will not all be wasted!

The world has its troubles, I know, but need you bear them all on your young shoulders? There was, of course, that ancient historian of India, who boiled the history of mankind into seven sad words. "They were born, they suffered, they died!" But need you wear that gloomy digest branded forever on your brow?

To be sure, men are born in the pain of their mothers; but their births bring joy to those same mothers, who are glad even as they suffer.

To be sure, men suffer. And when they are unhappy, they remember only the misery they have known. But in between the suffering, like streaks of gold, are the long-remembered moments of peace and beauty. And sometimes the suffering is good, and strengthening, and blessed.

And, to be sure, men die. . . . But they have lived before that, and many of them die splendidly and leave a rich history behind them, and as they lie in death there is a gravely beautiful look about them that seems to be saying to all their friends, "Do not grieve for me—all is well!"

All is true, the evil and the agony and the despair. But you need not bear it all. You may sing, you may laugh, you may dance, you may be young! You may be Yourself! The lad walking gloomily along with his head sunk between his shoulders is a pitiful sight. The lass with the desolate air is tragically pathetic, and need not be. He plays the role of Hamlet, she the sad Cassandra, who went through the streets of Troy. They are children who take the troubles of their elders too seriously.

On, wipe those eyes and blow your nose and life the corners of that grieving mouth and observe that flowers bloom gaily and children laugh and the sun sets in splendor and the world is more amusing than the disappointed grown-ups have informed you. And be your young, young selves, with the burden of your melancholy flung down in the dust of the road behind you.

LOOKING FORWARD

I find it rather good to live in spite of doubts and fears
And all the blows the fates can give
And changes through the years.
For further time I'm glad to plead,
I still have books I want to read.

I fancy as I go along
There will be pain to bear.
No doubt some heavier form of wrong
Will catch me unaware,
But still some joys I've set aside
I've hoped the future would provide.

I know the future cannot be
Much sweeter than the past;
That what of pleasure comes to me
Forever cannot last.
But still I'd like to live to see
A grandchild sitting on my knee.

I hope the Lord will let me stay
A little longer here.
The price in pain and care I'll pay
For every added year.
Life still has countless charms to give
For which I wait and want to live.

Once Overs

DO YOU GET THE "BREAKS"?

Don't be altogether too sure that it is lack of brains that has kept your friend from making a financial success while you have been accumulating. It may be lack of breaks.

You may have had the breaks, and invariably claim more credit than you deserve.

Perhaps your friend's life work is less remunerative than yours. You may blame him for choosing to spend his time in a line for which there is so little money paid in comparison with the labor.

But to some persons there is a certain accomplishment above the winning of shekels.

In your program there is little else but the income you can derive.

For him there may be brain development—growth in all round knowledge that makes him more intelligent and happier.

Perhaps you have been governed by a more or less selfish interest. Possibly your friend is putting his knowledge to work for others.

Under such circumstances, which one is the more successful as a man? Be honest in coming to a conclusion.

Man is not the final judge anyway. There is a better source from which judgment comes.

The old lady was very ill. She sent for her niece and said: "Sarah, I am going to die, and I don't want anyone to be foolish about it; when you come to lay me out, I want to be laid out in my black silk dress; but take the black panel out and make yourself a dress from it."

Sarah said: "Oh, Aunt Mary, I don't want to do that; when you and Uncle John walk up the golden stairs, I don't want people to see you without any back in your dress." "They won't look at me," the old lady replied. "I buried your Uncle John without his pants!"

The voice of a beggar aroused me. And a sharp reply came to my lips; But his eyes, startling, staring— So helplessly staring— Out short the retort on my lips.

So I gave of my silver—"God bless you! Now pick out a pencil; they say My pencils are weighted— Each heavily freighted— With luck for the buyer, today."

And the night and the stars seemed more friendly. While a cheerful young moon lit my track; And if you will be guided, You buy from the blind beggar's pack.

Recall Of Seattle's Mayor Shows City Power Contest

Wide Differences Of Opinion Are Disclosed As Press Discusses Changes In City Government Inspired By Executive's Opposition To Public Ownership

Recall of Mayor Edwards of Seattle by a large majority, after he had been elected and re-elected by flattering votes, is interpreted with radically differing opinions by the press. The Mayor's removal of the chief figure in the municipally owned electric plant of the city is held nominally to have been the cause of his removal. Other interpretations of the vote point to the conclusion that the battle was one of political organizations.

"The outstanding cause of the action," according to the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "is said to have been the removal from office of a man who had served efficiently as head of the city's light department. A recall election is expensive and usually does a municipality little good. Seattle, for a number of years, has endured patiently acts of political patronage. Its protests were not sufficient to prevent the removal of the President of the University of Washington, but when a similar instance appeared within the narrower limits of the municipality, it acted."

Indorsing the results of the recall vote, the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL says the defeat of a Mayor who was originally elected by the largest majority ever given a Mayor in that city and was re-elected last year with a majority almost as large as his original remarkable vote: "There is no way to misinterpret or misunderstand the Seattle vote. The group that has all along fought the municipal system is very much the minority. NEW CASTLE CAR AND BUS DRIVERS AT SAFETY DINNER

Thirty four car and bus operators of the New Castle division will be among the 256 of the Penn-Ohio transportation system, who will be guests with their wives and officials of the company at the semi-annual safety dinners to be held Tuesday at the Hotel Ohio, Youngstown. The dinners will celebrate the best accident prevent record the transportation system ever had. Not one of the men was charged with an accident in the first six months of this year.

Each division shared in the honor of reducing the number of accidents. Street car and bus operators of New Castle cut chargeable accidents 40 per cent; car operators of Youngstown reduced accidents 38 per cent and bus operators 32 per cent; Sharon operators 73 per cent and Trumbull operators 85 per cent.

New Castle Men Honored

The 34 New Castle operators who made an outstanding record for their division were: T. D. Allen, M. E. Bare, P. N. Brest, C. C. Clark, E. A. Cooke, Roy Davis, C. E. Douglas, Edward Fink, D. K. Frazier, C. J. Garwig, A. H. Heasley, M. J. Hunter, A. C. Kelliher, S. W. Lowers, J. G. Mariacher, J. L. Maxwell, G. F. Melgren, J. E. Miller, A. C. McClure, E. A. McConaghy, H. A. McConnell, D. M. McFate, Clark Patterson, Bert Peet, W. L. Reed, C. J. Roeder, L. O. Rowland, W. F. Shippe, T. W. Spiers, R. G. Stewart, J. H. Thompson, W. H. Vogan, C. C. Wick and A. W. Wolfe.

There will be dinners at noon and in the evening. The committee in charge of the dinner follows: Superintendent C. C. Coulthard, New Castle; Howard Shaner, safety supervisor; Superintendent Thomas Flanagan, Sharon; Superintendent T. C. Moore, Trumbull division and Superintendent John A. Harvey, Youngstown.

Congressman John G. Cooper of Youngstown will be the guest speaker at both dinners and identical programs of entertainment will be given. The dinner music will be furnished by the Penn-Ohio orchestra, under the direction of Frank Woods. Entertainment features will include a rural comedy sketch by Roy Whittenberger and F. E. Thomas of the Youngstown lines and Scotch comedy by Miss Betty Vannan.

France Bars Her

Elizabeth Hawes (above), well-known American modiste, has now joined the ranks of those individuals who have been barred from France. Miss Hawes, pictured on her return to New York on the S. S. Aquitania, was literally banned from France, where she attempted to compete with French style-makers. She is the first American girl to attempt to introduce American styles in France.

Baltimore "Siamese" Twin Is Dead; Other One Doing Nicely

"Siamese Twins" Born To Women At Baltimore Are Parted By Death

(International News Service) BALTIMORE, July 27.—One of Baltimore's "Siamese" twins died Saturday.

July 7 Mrs. Albert Foster, wife of a railroad brakeman, became the mother of twin girls at Mercy hospital. Their abdomens were joined by a long fleshy ligament which was immediately severed. And the operation was heralded by the surgical world as a masterful achievement.

Another major operation was necessary, however, in order that the infants might live, but they did not gain sufficiently. The recent heat wave considerably retarded their battle to live.

The other twin was reported to be doing nicely.

Literary Genius

Barbara, 8, and Andrew John Kaufmann, 10 (above), have already written and illustrated a book all by themselves! However, that literary achievement doesn't thrill them as much as their toys. They are the children of Reginald Kaufmann, Geneva newspaper correspondent, and an author of note. Mrs. Kaufmann writes under the name of "Ruth Wright." So the youngsters seem to be chips off the two "old blocks."

Will Interview Those From County Running For Various Offices Tonight

Candidates and prospective candidates for city and county offices will have the privilege of meeting the executive committee of the Pershing club for the purpose of outlining their qualifications and platform, at a meeting to be held in the Legion Home association building this evening.

The Pershing club expects to endorse candidates in the near future and will give those seeking office an opportunity to explain their stand on various questions of moment at the meeting this evening.

President Homer Drake extends an invitation to all candidates for city and county office to attend this meeting. He also desires a full attendance of the members of the central committee.

Trade Recovery Near, Klein Says

U. S. Expert Economist Says There Is Every Reason For Cheerful Outlook

WASHINGTON, July 27.—America is now witnessing the last stages of the depression, with "business convalescing" from the headaches of towering stock markets in 1929 and their subsequent collapse. Assistant Secretary of Commerce Julius Klein declared last night in a radio address.

Speaking over a nation-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, the government economist said the depth of the depression was passed last spring.

"It took a long series of business depressions before the United States exerted itself to organize the sound currency and credit mechanism, which our federal reserve system now administers," he said. "From the last two national experiences with depression, 1920 and 1930, we are gradually collectively drawing another enlightened lesson.

"We see that our industrial civilization must balance itself, must match production with consumption and must arrange to keep up the consuming power which underlies markets.

"There is every reason for us to be cheerful over the outlook. The problem before us is more clearly visualized than in former crisis; the notions of how it may be solved, of how the difficulties may be avoided, are getting to be concrete; and experiments in the application of remedy are under way.

"One of our jobs is to devise a record that will register the actual performance and record the fluctuations of business accurately.

"A searching inquiry of our unemployment with its trends, accurately kept up, is another need."

Miss Mary Woodrow, first church and Frank Brennan, Highland member, led the devotional service. A piano solo by Miss Frances Turner featured.

Finds Money In Enlarging Cellar

(International News Service) JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 27.—Enlarging the cellar of his home here, William Franz was overjoyed to come upon 600 half dollars. By zealous polishing he salvaged 295 of the coins, throwing the rest away because of excessive corrosion.

Then U. S. Secret Service operatives examined the coins, pronounced every one of them spurious.

Holdup Men Busy Saturday Night

D. O. Ferry of Rigby P. O. reported to the police Saturday night that while walking on South Jefferson street, near the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, that two men held him up and took six dollars in cash from him. The holdup men, according to Ferry, were Americans about 35 years of age and both had on white caps. Officers made an investigation on receipt of the report, but were unable to locate the holdup men.

County Driver On Suspended List

Another From City Has Privileges Restored During Week

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 27.—With the hand of the law laid particularly heavily upon Beaver county motorists, the state board of motor vehicles today announced withdrawal of the cards of 119 drivers. Of this number, 50 were revoked and 69 were suspended. And of the total revocations, 20 were made in Beaver county.

During the past week, operating privileges were restored to 77 motorists the bureau announced. Total revocations to date are now 1,658 and total suspensions, 1,754.

Among those whose licenses were suspended during the week was Elie Corkovic, Route 1, Wampum.

Pete Presner of 401 E. Lee avenue, had his license restored during the week.

BULL DOG KILLED BY PORCUPINE QUILLS

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 27.—The peace and quiet of the Henry's Bend community was broken when two dogs, favorites of vacationists at the resort, became victims of a porcupine's ire. A bulldog owned by Miss Josephine First of Oil City, died as the result of the attack, and another dog was severely injured. The two dogs were prowling in the woods when they encountered the porcupine. The "porky" let fly a barrage of needles. The bulldog died an hour later.

Charges Husband Ate Live Sparrow

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 27.—Among other reasons, Mrs. Margaret Guerrieri told the court, the reason she brought charges of assault and battery, non-support and violating the surety of the peace against her husband was his conduct concerning a live sparrow.

Guerrieri, his wife told the court, caught the bird and ate it between a couple of slices of bread, as a sandwich.

Grasshoppers Invade Farms Of Northwest, Bringing Misfortune

Creatures Don't Confine Ravaging To Surplus Wheat But Eat Up Corn, Threatening Farmers With Ruination

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, July 27.—At last, northwestern agriculture's luck has changed, and is now a damnsight worse, as the poker player expressed it.

After experiencing, as he honestly believed, every misfortune that his jinx could invent, the South Dakota, Nebraska, western Kansas, eastern Kansas, eastern Colorado and Idaho farmer is winding up the season with the most devastating invasion of grasshoppers in half a century.

The inexperienced easterner may say: "Well, what of it? Inasmuch as it is of over-production that the grain belt is complaining, will it not be a blessing if the orthoptera eat up some of the surplus?—wheat especially?"

"Possibly so," rejoins Dr. W. E. Walton, cereal and forage insect specialist of the agriculture department's bureau of entomology, "if the creatures would confine themselves to wheat—of which, by the way, a vast deal already is harvested, surplus and all, and therefore safe from their ravages."

"Unfortunately, they are starting now on the corn, which the farmers need to fatten their livestock."

To the entomologically ignorant Dr. Walton admits that there must seem to be something almost deliberately malevolent in a fate which spares a crop that the farmers actually would have profited by losing in part, while sending quantities of grasshoppers to devour one which they could advantageously have marketed in the form of dairy products, plump steers and prize porkers.

Scientifically speaking, however, he attributes the plague to last year's dry weather.

"After a severe drought," he explained, "the orthoptera family always is rampant. As a serious pest it usually runs a three-season course—gains headway the second, reaches its maximum the second, declines during the third; after that just holds its own until the next opportunity."

I was brought up in the grasshopper country myself. The last great visitation it ended in 1882, according to Dr. Walton, was a little before my time, but old settlers certainly told tall stories concerning it.

They swore that the hoppers even ate up their hoe handles, and there is no doubt that they really did temporarily knock the bottom out of northwestern land values, for many folk believed the Mississippi valley river again would be free, in summertime, from sun-obscuring swarms of them.

Dr. Walton laughed at the hoe handle exaggeration. "But they did make a clean sweep of everything green," he said, "and stripped the bark from young trees sometimes."

"It is true enough," he continued, "that they were considered a genuine menace, in the 1870's and early 80's, to the future of mid-western agriculture. A government commission of the leading entomologists of the day was organized to study and combat them."

"That panic will not be repeated in this generation. It is a fact that the hoppers are our worst crop insect pest of the present season but we understand them better than when the West was just being opened, and cultivation appears to have a somewhat restraining influence on them—or perhaps it is because we are reared with poison."

The Indians used to eat them. "I know they did," nodded the doctor, "and the Bible mentions them as edible—that is, locusts, which practically are identical with our grasshoppers. Shakespeare also says, 'luscious as locusts.'"

"I hate to disagree with Shakespeare and the Bible, but I advise against a grasshopper diet, with or without wild honey. The soft part of their bodies does contain a certain amount of nutriment, but the bony shell of any insect is like broken glass of the system."

"I'm convinced no one could eat grasshoppers for long without grave internal trouble. They kill turkeys which over-indulge in them. Even a snake, which can digest anything digestible, can't digest an insect's outer armor."

As a naturalist, Dr. Walton has dissected snakes and discusses their digestive capabilities with authority.

Firemen Called To Cement Plant

Some Damage By Fire In Packing Room At Lehigh Plant

While crowds of curious, mostly from the families of workmen of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, on the East Side, filled the grounds and milled about fire apparatus late last night, firemen quelled a blaze in the packing house of No. 3 plant after battling flames in piles of packing bags for over an hour.

Assistant Fire Chief Stockman who directed firemen from central and No. 4 stations at the fire said the loss would be approximately $400.

A report from the offices of the cement company indicated that a checkup of the damage is now in progress and the entire loss would not be known until it is completed. The fire whose origin is unknown, firemen report, started in the sheet iron packing house in which the Modern Valve Bag company bags cement under contract for Lehigh.

A speeding automobile arrived at central fire station at 11:50 p. m. and the driver informed firemen that their services were needed at No. 3 plant. In the meantime emergency fire hose of the plant had been placed in operation and workmen manned the hose which was connected to a hydrant on the plant grounds.

Due to huge piles of ready cement in bags and bins, firemen had to be careful in applying water to the flaming bags. Piles of bags were pushed out of the packing house, enabling firemen to apply water without causing further damage to valuable cement.

Firemen had to lay 1,500 feet of hose and continued at the scene until about 1 a. m. today.

PIE-THROWING BURGLAR
(International News Service)
DETROIT—Police have been ordered to be on the lookout for a burglar who expresses his disgust by throwing pies. Stanley Markies, owner of a lunch wagon, reported the burglar broke into his perambulating restaurant during the night and took 40 cents from the cash register and a bunch of keys. After looting the change drawer, the prowler evidently discovered an apple pie. He took one bite and then threw the pie against window and left.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Short Worship During August

Presbyterian Pastor Will Commence Month's Vacation Next Week; Other News

During the month of August, a short worship program will be conducted by a number of groups of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church directly following the Sabbath school hour, Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor, announces. The short program will for the next four Sundays take the place of the regular morning service, and will be a half hour continuation of the Sabbath school hour.

Rev. Schnebly, who will be on his annual vacation during August, announces that the elders of the church will be in charge of the first Sunday's program. The church trustees will plan the second Sunday program, the Sunday school the third and the M. E. G. auxiliary the fourth. No prayer meetings will be held during August.

The pastor and his family will spend a part of the vacation in Beaver county at Cherry Tree, Pa., and at Hagerstown.

Union Meetings Are Concluded

Union services were completed in the seventh ward churches Sunday evening at the Mahoning Methodist church, with a well chosen, interesting and inspiring sermon by Rev. W. W. Sniff of the Christian church. The final meeting was well attended and was a fitting conclusion to a series of splendid services extending over a period of six weeks.

LIBRARY DAY
Books may be borrowed from the Mahoningtown branch library this afternoon and evening. The branch of the main library, located on Wabash avenue near the intersection of North Liberty street, is open every Monday and Thursday, with a staff member in charge. Miss Alice Morrison and Mrs. Gladys Johnston, usually in charge of the local library, are on their vacations. The work is now in charge of Mrs. Edith Allen and the city librarian, Miss Alice Sterling.

BROTHERHOOD PICNIC
Indications point to a well attended picnic at Cascade Park Thursday, when members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen No. 955 and the Mabel Wilson Auxiliary No. 567 meet together for the annual event. The Brotherhood members will bring their wives and the auxiliary members will bring their husbands and families.

NO MEETING
In accordance with the summer plan of the lodge, there will be no meeting of the Augusta Statler No. 171 auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen this evening at Clendenin hall. The lodge meets only on the second Monday evening throughout the summer.

FROM ORVILLE
Hubert Johnston of Orville, O., was a guest on Saturday of his brother, P. D. Johnston, in this ward.

RETURN HOME
Miss Alice Tindall, Ralph Mellon and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Riddle of Franklin returned home Friday after a few days visit in Mahoningtown and New Bedford.

RETURN HOME
Mr. and Mrs. P. C. McKeever, of New Kensington, returned home on Sunday evening after a visit with relatives on North Cedar street.

ON VACATION
This is the start of the vacation season for members of the seventh ward fire department. R. G. Clark of North Cedar street is off duty today for a two weeks' period.

WEEK-END GUEST
Mrs. Elmer E. Wilson of Sharps was a guest of local relatives over the week-end in Mahoningtown.

SATURDAY HERE
Mrs. Gordon Matthews and the Misses Caroline and Margaret Brenner of near Diamond, O., spent Saturday in seventh ward.

Word Received Of Pittsburgh Wedding

Friends in this ward have heard of the marriage last week of Miss Esther Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Miller to Henry Charles Weisz, son of Mrs. Lucille Weisz, at Pittsburgh. Both Mr. and Mrs. Weisz are residents of Pittsburgh and have friends and relatives in this and other parts of New Castle.

They left on a wedding trip through New York State and will reside at Pittsburgh upon their return.

OPPORTUNITY CIRCLE
Members of the Opportunity Circle of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will have a meeting at 2:30 in the afternoon of Friday, August 7 at the home of Mrs. David Bender, West Madison avenue.

MAKING VISIT
Mrs. D. C. Schnebly and children of Newell avenue, are visiting relatives at Cherry Tree, Pa.

OF YOUNGSTOWN
Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Maxwell and daughters Alma and Georgiana of Youngstown, O., were Friday visitors in Mahoningtown.

HERE FOR VISIT
Homer Marks of near Ellwood City, formerly employed here, spent Friday with local friends.

CASCADE DINNER
Dinner was enjoyed in the grove of Cascade park Saturday evening by a group of eight young people living in this district. Turkeys and baskets were taken by those attending and dinner was enjoyed at about 6 o'clock. Bathing was the evening diversion.

VISITS SISTER
Anthony DeMarco of Cleveland, O., visited his sister in this ward Friday and Saturday of last week.

Prowler Steals Traveling Bag

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Frank Biddle, Youngstown, O., and Jerry Jennings, Cleveland, had to buy clean shirts today. They slept in a park last night and a prowler stole their traveling bag, they reported to police.

Dinner Stories

UP TO DATE
They were discussing a country inn. "Not a bad place—very old-fashioned," declared one motorist. "In my bedroom was a text on the wall. 'Lay me down in peace to sleep, for I know that I die in safety.'"

"I rather like those old fashions," commented his friend. "The old fashions are all right," agreed the other, "but beneath it was mine host's personal motto: 'The landlord will not hold himself responsible for jewelry or other valuables unless left at the office.'"

PHALANX TO CAMP
Members of the Phalanx fraternity will again motor to Camp Rentz of the Y. M. C. A. for their customary get-together Wednesday night. An outdoor sports program is planned.

Cars will leave the "Y" at 7 o'clock.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves
It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Eckert's and New Castle Drug Co. says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

Communists Nabbed In Rumania, Planned To Bomb Newlyweds

Rumania Police Arrest 200 Reds Who Planned To Disrupt Royal Wedding

(International News Service)
BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 27.—A Communist plot to bomb the wedding of Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton of Hapsburg at Sinaia Sunday was thwarted when police arrested 200 Reds. Bucharest police officials announced today. The unbanned guests to the marriage of Rumania's lovely princess were arrested Saturday and Sunday, the police said. They declared that they had kept the discovery of the plot a secret till the young princess and her Austrian husband were on their honeymoon in Rumanian Transylvania so that nothing would mar the charm of the medieval ceremony at Sinaia.

Choral Society Pleases Audience

At the close of the study period of the Sabbath school of the Highland U. P. church Sunday morning, the entire school assembled in the auditorium of the church, where they were most pleasingly entertained by the Miniature Choral society, a group of colored singers of the high school age, directed by Arthur O. Thomas. William L. Wallace of the Highland church is manager of the group.

Their voices, nine in number, blended most harmoniously in the numbers chosen for presentation and the solo work of the different members was most beautifully rendered.

PLACING CITY SCHOOLS IN SHAPE FOR FALL

While the teachers and pupils of the New Castle schools are enjoying a three-month vacation, the janitors are being kept busy every working day in the week making repairs to the various school buildings. Under the supervision of the superintendent of buildings and grounds, S. G. Ligo, the janitorial force has been at work and with the vacation half done the work of repairs and improvements shows the effect of the combined group.

Listed among the repairs and improvements made thus far are the following: West Side school, walls and ceilings of the rooms and corridors used. 175 gallons of paint being used.

Lincoln-Garfield building: walls and ceilings of Lincoln school painted. Cement repairs made in various places around Lincoln and the floor of the gymnasium laid in concrete. At Garfield school the walls and ceiling of the rooms were washed and the gymnasium ceiling painted.

North street building: walls and ceilings washed.

Thaddeus Stevens: walls and ceilings of rooms and corridors painted.

Senior high school: gymnasium floor replaced with concrete and walls and ceilings of some of the rooms washed.

Croton: much cement work replaced. Also at McGill and Mahoning school there has been much replacement of cement work.

Work has been started in Franklin junior high school, some 30 rooms being scheduled for painting. Chair rails have been placed in every room, cafeteria has been washed, as has been the model apartment, the teachers' rest room, the offices and all corridors. New walks have been installed and others repaired.

At Oak street, where a new heating system is being installed by contract, the preliminary work of tearing out the old system and putting in the foundation and ash pits has been done by the janitors.

By using the janitorial force in the summer Mr. Ligo is enabled to save considerable money and in addition the work is directly under his supervision. By the time school opens in September the buildings will be in splendid shape.

County Detective Continues Work On Enon Robbery

With one or two leads that may develop into action later on, County Detective H. M. Lee is in Enon Valley again today investigating the robbery at the McNeice and McRoberts store there, in which robbers removed the store safe and looted the shelves.

Mr. Lee is of the opinion that the job may be the work of the same robbers who a month ago robbed the petty cash drawer and took about one hundred dollars worth of merchandise. He is leaving no leads untouched however and is going to the bottom of the robbery.

Richard Owrey Baptizes Five
A service that will long remain in the minds of the congregation of the Peoples' Mission was the baptismal service conducted Sunday afternoon at the McCleary beach when Rev. Richard Owrey, superintendent of the mission, officiated at his first baptismal service. He immersed five persons and later, at the evening service in the mission, received them into the church.

The service of consecration was most impressive and the evening sermon was preached by Kenneth Johnson, a student of Beulah Beach Bible school.

DISTRICT MINE LEADERS KILLS HIS ATTACKER

him while he was addressing a throng of United Mine workers at Canonsburg, south of here.

Frustration of the attempted assassination followed a rough and tumble struggle during which Fagan battled his assailant in a 25-foot fall from the porch, down a steep embankment and over a high stone wall to the pavement.

Impact of the interlocked bodies caused Murphy's gun to discharge, the bullet striking him in the head. Fagan scrambled after the pistol and sent two more bullets crashing into Murphy's body.

Dead When Police Arrive
One slug penetrated Murphy's head and the other his shoulder. He was dead when police arrived.

Murphy's companion fled immediately after the shooting and was captured about a half hour later.

Fagan told police he had gone out on the porch early this morning for a breath of fresh air before going to bed when Murphy came up steps. With the blunt statement: "I'm from District 19" (Eastern Kentucky District 19, of the United Mine Workers), Fagan quoted the man as saying, Murphy pushed a gun in his direction.

"I backed away, telling him for God's sake to put away his gun," Fagan told police.

"As I backed away, I stepped a little to one side and then dived on his arm, pushing his gun away from me. We closed in fighting. We went over the porch railing to the top of the terrace and rolled down the street."

"I was hanging to the hand that held the gun and as we hit the sidewalk the weapon went off."

"I didn't know whether I was shot or he. But when he dropped the gun and started away, I picked it up and fired twice."

"He dropped in the street and as some men came up to him, I turned back into the house to call police."

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening Most Enjoyable

Emmanuel Baptist Church Is Crowded With Congregation Anxious To Hear Program

Sacred concert program presented Sunday evening in the Emmanuel Baptist church was heard by a congregation that filled every bit of available space in the church.

The visiting artists as well as the local performers in the excellent program arranged for the occasion, were in their best form and delighted the large congregation.

Miss Cainen Johns of Cleveland, O., radio artist of that city was guest soloist of the evening and was heard in several numbers with Edwin Lewis as accompanist. She disclosed a soprano voice of rare beauty and exceptional range. Others on the program included Master Lew Badger, boy soprano of Cleveland, in solo numbers, a piano selection by Miss Marian Bevan of New York and Thomas D. Richards of Warren, O. Mrs. Henry Badger of Cleveland, Charles Richards of this city in vocal solo selections. Mrs. Gwen Vogan and Brinley Hughes were heard in a pleasing duet number.

Prohibition Rally At Gospel Tent

Services Well Attended Sunday At The Greenwood Methodist Camp Meeting

The old time temperance crusader's spirit was re-awakened at the Greenwood camp meeting, Sunday afternoon when Rev. Andrew Johnson fired the enthusiasm of the large crowd with his famous lecture on prohibition.

He reviewed the history of the mighty conflict which has raged for one hundred years between the wets and dries, culminating in the 18th Amendment being added to the constitution.

Miss Margaret Walker, president of the Lawrence County W. C. T. U. and a delegation of dries were on the platform. Rev. A. B. Shaffer and the 18th amendment and Rev. S. R. Maitland read a temperance scripture lesson.

The evening service was featured by Dr. Johnson's sermon on "Cause and Cure for the Crime Wave" and he stated that there is only one cure for the present era of crime and that is the "Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Rev. Harry Maitland conducted the musical part of the program.

This evening Dr. Johnson will speak on the text—"Remember Lot's Wife". Greenwood is seven miles east of New Castle on the Ellwood road.

Ministers present Sunday were Rev. Williams, Rev. Johnson and Rev. Socia.

Poles Draw Eye Of Councilmen

City Engineer To Determine Ownership Of Poles In Laurel Boulevard

Bell Telephone company today was granted permission by city council to place one pole and move two in Northwest avenue west of Highland avenue which caused Councilman Burns to inquire of colleagues if they city electrician investigated the locations.

He said that recently a pole was being placed by the Pennsylvania Power company in East Main street and that he discovered it was being placed where it would be an obstruction. He had officials change the location.

Councilman Reeves remarked that inasmuch as Laurel boulevard is being enhanced in appearance something should be done about the poles which he said "look bad".

Mayor Gillespie stated that as soon as the curb is set he believes that the poles will be aligned properly.

Councilman Burns offered a motion that the city engineer ascertain the ownership of the poles in Laurel boulevard.

Havana and Back in 17 Hours

Captain Frank Hawks, premier speed pilot of the world, is shown being greeted by prominent New York officials and his wife after his record-breaking flight to Havana and return in total elapsed time of a little more than 17 hours. Such time gave Hawks his breakfast in New York, lunch in Havana and dinner in New York. From New York to Havana, Hawks set a new mark of eight hours, eight minutes in his famous Texaco 13 monoplane, beating the recently set record of James Hall by 27 minutes. Returning he beat his own old record in flying the 1,400 miles in seven hours and 31 minutes. Left to right are: George Mann, of the New York Mayor's Reception Committee; Mrs. Hawks, Capt. Hawks and William Deegan, city official.

History Book In Controversy Not In Use Here

There is no controversy in the New Castle school district over the type of history books to be used in the schools, such as that now raging in Franklin, Pa. The New Castle schools use the Elson history according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, and no attempt has been made to introduce the Vannest and Smith history which is under fire in Franklin.

START PROBE OF PITTSBURGH FIRE TAKING 40 LIVES

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith sounded a reassuring note with the announcement that a fine comb search of the blackened ruins had revealed no trace of their bodies. Smith expressed the belief those missing had escaped.

It was regarded as a significant coincidence, however, that while ten inmates were reported missing, a like number lay on marble slabs in the morgue—unidentified. The missing are:

Henry Gilheizer.
Bridget Cloonan.
Michael Corrigan.
Mrs. J. Rolier.
Hugh McAvoy.
Nick Rotjishosky.
Joseph DeKovia.
Mary Henry.
Anthony Smith.
Anna Carroll.

Forty Bodies In Morgue
Of the 40 bodies taken to the morgue, 30 were identified today. Ten others still lay on slabs, but seven of these probably will not be identified, and the death toll completed, until membership rolls of the home are thoroughly searched and checked.

These seven bodies, charred and disfigured, were impossible to identify, even tentatively.

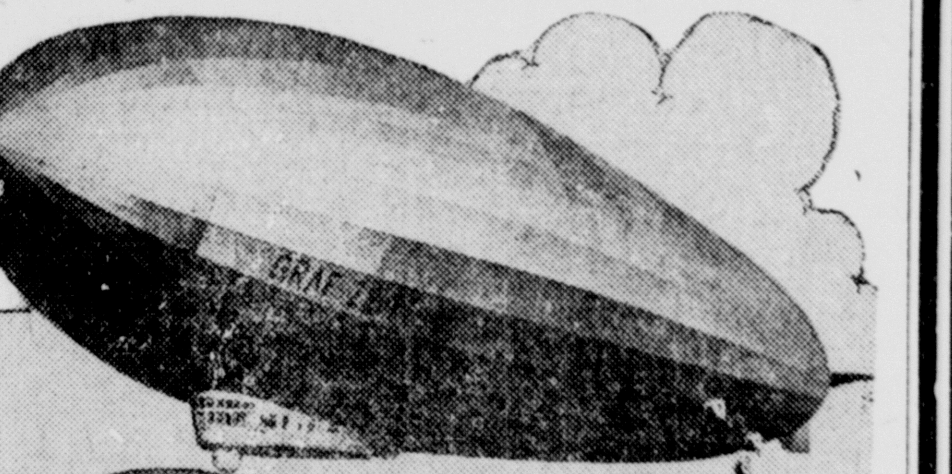

Fire Chief Smith today expressed the theory that spontaneous combustion, resulting from the reported stinging in a stairway of a floor scraper with oil-soaked dust clinging to it, was responsible for the blaze. He emphasized, however, that this represented nothing more than a theory and that all possible causes would be checked.

Investigations were under way by the coroner's office, the city and county fire departments and the First Underwriters Association.

Rehabilitation efforts are well under way. As contributions to aid destitute survivors of Pittsburgh's worst fire in 70 years poured into relief headquarters, Mother Provincial Augustine of Baltimore revealed that a new home for the aged, modern and fireproof, would rise from the blackened ruins.

Sniders Win In Patterson Suit

Will Be Permitted To Keep $3,500, Which Was Given Them By Hiram Holliday

In the case of S. E. Patterson, guardian of Hiram Holliday, against Ira and Anna Snider, Judge R. L. Hildebrand handed down an opinion at court this morning in which defendant's motion for a new trial is refused, but defendant's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is granted, and judgment is directed to be entered in favor of the defendants against the plaintiff.

The case grew out of the keeping of Holliday, who was 80 years old, by the defendants. Testimony showed that Holliday had paid a certain sum monthly and had made a written agreement with Sniders under which they were to keep him for the balance of his days in consideration of the payment of $3,500. The plaintiff Patterson, afterwards sought to break this agreement on the grounds of mental incapacity of Holliday to make a contract.

Verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $3,500, less certain it, as which made it $3,478. The court held that mental incapacity was not shown by the evidence, there being just as much that would show that Holliday was capable of making an agreement.

Teachers Learn Art Of Directing Marionettes

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 27.—The technique of marionette shows back to school rooms all over the state at the end of the six-week term in summer college, and aid in the production of these little shows in their home towns.

All plays are written by students, who also construct the marionettes, rig them and design and make the costumes. The students this week are completing scenery and sets for the plays, and on August 3 and 4 will give the plays in series of three each, in the afternoon for children, and in the evening for adults.

Dr. Clyde King Is In Hospital

State Secretary Of Revenue Is In Hospital In New York—Has Pleurisy

WEDDING TRIP IS INTERRUPTED

(International News Service) HARRISBURG July 27.—Dr. Clyde L. King, state secretary of revenue, is in the Benedictine hospital at Kingston, N. Y., suffering from an attack of pleurisy it was announced here today at the department of revenue offices.

For the past two weeks, Dr. King has been in a hospital at Loconia, N. H., as the result of a fractured leg suffered in a motoring accident, last Friday, his office reported, physicians permitted him to start for Harrisburg by automobile but Dr. King became ill that night and the party stopped at Kingston, where a doctor's examination showed he was suffering from pleurisy and he was removed to the hospital.

The accident and sickness have harmed the revenue secretary's wedding trip east from Waco, Tex., where he was married recently.

Hoover Remains In Virginia Camp

(International News Service) HOOVER CAMP, Rapidan, Va., July 27.—With the international situation temporarily at least in hand and no pressing domestic business on his desk in Washington, President Hoover decided to prolong his stay at his Blue Ridge mountain retreat on the Rapidan for another day, and will not return to the capital until tomorrow morning.

Since last Friday, the executive has been enjoying a complete rest—his first since the Caribbean cruise last winter—and it was at the last minute last night he made up his mind to put in another twenty four hours at camp.

Nicaraguan Canal Need Is Great, Is Engineers Opinion

Canal Through Nicaragua Would Share Traffic That Passes Through Panama Canal

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 27.—The proposed canal across Nicaragua to share the increasing traffic passing through the Panama Canal, would be of tremendous value from the standpoint of national defense, Lieutenant Col. Dan I. Sultan, army engineers corps, asserted today. He returned here after surveying the contemplated project for two years and declared it feasible, could be built for $700,000,000 and that the increasing traffic through the Panama waterway will make a new canal a necessity.

He said expansion of the Panama Canal is limited because of the lack of water, while the planned water lane across Nicaragua would have an unlimited supply from Lake Nicaragua.

JAP BEETLES NOT SEEN HERE YET

Are Not Expected To Begin Activities Before Middle Of August

As far as could be learned today, no Japanese Beetles have yet put in their appearance here, and are not really expected to become active until the middle of August.

It was about that time last year, when the bugs were discovered here, possibly a dozen having been captured in the district between Beaver and Grant streets, and the P. and L. E. railroad tracks.

Expecting a reappearance this year, as the adult beetles were presumed to have laid some eggs, a great number of traps have been set in the district between Jefferson street and the Department of Agriculture representative in charge, no beetles or any bugs resembling them have been caught in the traps as yet. When any are caught, they will be sent to the Department of Agriculture for definite identification, after which the fact will be made known by Department officials.

According to a description issued by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the beetles make their appearance between June 15 and 20, and are most active between that time and the last of August. They feed on early ripening fruit, and the foliage of fruit trees, shrubs, flowers, grape vines, etc.

The female beetle lays her eggs in the ground in the summer, which hatch into larvae or grubs. These stay in the ground and feed on roots of grasses and other vegetation.

The beetle is a dark green in color, about the size of a potato beetle, and the wings have a bronze tinge. Around the outside edge of the body where the wings end, there is a row of white colored spots, which are raised. The two spots on the rear of the body are the largest and are plainly distinguished.

Man Injured In Fall From Roof

Falls About Twenty Feet At The Foltz Residence On Wallace Avenue

Harry Strausbaugh of 327 Shenandoah street, was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital about eleven o'clock today, following a fall, which occurred at the Foltz residence, Highland avenue and Wallace avenue, while he was doing some painting on the main roof of the residence.

In some manner he lost his footing and fell some twenty to twenty-five feet to the roof of a porch of the residence, sustaining severe bruises of the shoulder and a cut above his left eye. He was removed at once to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where it is expected he will remain for a short time at least.

POLICE ASKED TO SEEK WOMAN WHO TOOK SOME MONEY

On Saturday evening, the police were asked by William Graham of the Harlansburg road to be on the lookout for a woman known as Pat White and her little three and a half year old daughter, who had left the Graham home, where she had been working, whom he charged with taking $47 belonging to Mr. Graham. According to the information obtained by the police, she was likely to go to Columbia, South Carolina. She was described as being 24 years of age, weighing 110 pounds, having black hair and wearing a black hat with a white rim and a dark colored coat with a cane on it.

Laura Ingalls, Tiny, but Nerry, Is Out to Be First of Sex to Fly Ocean

One-Hundred-Pound Aviatrix, Who Deserted Footlights for Cockpit, and Holds Many of the Most Cherished Records for Flying, Gives Destination, "Le Bourget."

Known as the tiniest aviatrix in the world, Laura Ingalls, diminutive 100-pound pilot, has set a task for herself which bears no relation to the word little or any of its synonyms. For whatever this be the first woman to fly the Atlantic solo conclusively proves. Carefully laying her plans in a manner which reminds one of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Miss Ingalls, quiet and retiring, may hop off strikingly similar to that used by Lindy. So intent is Laura on being the first of her sex to fly from New York to Paris all alone that she has boldly written her destination as Le Bourget whenever she has been called upon recently to name her next stop. Not content with holding various stunt and long distance records for both men and women fliers, Miss Ingalls, who deserted the stage for the cockpit, is preparing at New York for the greatest adventure of her life.

Shaw Becomes Russian Idol

George Bernard Shaw Endears Himself To Soviets By Speech

PRaises LENIN FOR HIS WORK

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, July 27.—If anything still were needed to make George Bernard Shaw a hero in the eyes of the Russian Soviets, the bearded playwright and critic supplied that element today in a talking motion picture eulogizing Lenin, in which Shaw appeared.

"If Lenin's experiment fails the present civilization fails," was the keynote of the Shavian tribute to the dead red leader. His salutation was pompous and left no member of society out of its scope. "Majesties, my lords, ladies, gentlemen, comrades and proletarians," he began. "If Lenin's experiment fails the present civilization fails. Many civilizations have existed until now, and when they reached the point that western capitalism has now reached they degenerated and fell."

Shaw has made himself the idol of the Soviet public since his arrival here last week. His speech of last night in the Hall of Columns, where the great Soviet "conspiracy trials" were held, made a great hit, for he was loud in his praise of the Soviet social system.

Western European nations, he said, should be ashamed that they had not preceded Russia in the overthrow of capitalism.

GUARD TOURIST SPRINGS (International News Service) HARTFORD, Conn., July 27.—Connecticut's health and highway departments have joined hands to protect picnic parties and other persons who stop at wayside springs for a drink of water. Every such spring has been tested, and those that are pure have signs stating the fact. A general warning has been broadcast to avoid springs that do not have the official sign.

New York Gangsters Claim Two Victims

Found Shot To Death In New York City—Beer War Rivals Are Blamed

NEW YORK, July 27.—Two new victims were claimed today by New York's rival beer gangs. Anthony Leggio, 28, died in a hospital after he was shot six times and Joseph Martin arrested eight times for serious crimes, was shot to death in the Bronx. Martin's body was found wrapped in newspapers. Leggio's police record showed 11 arrests. Beer wars were blamed by police for the two murders.

Lindberghs Ready for Hop to Orient

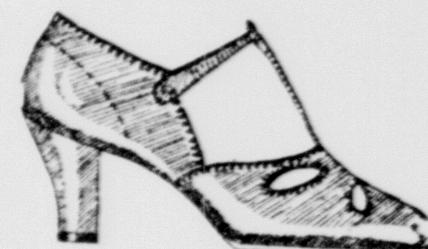

Weeks of preparation have brought Colonel Charles E. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh to the point where they think they will hop off on their flight to the Orient very soon. Their ambitious aerial adventure will take them from New York to Tokyo over a route which does not necessitate any dangerous water jumps. Their first stop out of New York will be Ottawa, Canada, thence to Moose Factory, on to Aklavik at the mouth of the Mackenzie River and then to Nome. The next hop will take them across the Bering Sea and down the coast of Kamchatka. From there they will follow the string of small islands south to Nemuro on the northern coast of Yezo, Japan, and then on to Tokyo. The proposed route is outlined above, with a photo of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh at left and their speedy Lockheed Sirius monoplane at right.

Old Timers Day On August 12

Date Is Officially Set At Meeting Of Committee Saturday

NEW MEMBERS ARE NAMED ON BOARD

Old Timers day will be observed for the twenty-fifth consecutive time on Wednesday, August 12, 1931, at Cascade park, the date that was officially selected at the annual meeting of the executive committee of the Old Timers association held Saturday evening at the office of William T. Butz on North Mercer street.

It was decided that the affair should be held as in former years at the park, with the dancing pavilion as the center of attraction during the afternoon and evening. The committee at its meeting added two additional members to take the places made vacant by death and resignation of former members. The members selected were Alderman O. H. P. Green and Robert H. McCann. Ralph M. Campbell, was acting president at the meeting.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are H. E. McGoun, president; Ralph M. Campbell, vice-president; and W. T. Butz, secretary-treasurer.

Car Leaves Road Driver Is Killed

Joseph Sarver, 50, Meets Death On Butler-Slippery Rock Road On Sunday

(Special To The News) BUTLER, Pa., July 27.—Joseph Sarver, aged 50, of Butler, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when an automobile driven by Quinn L. Flick, also of Butler, left the Butler and Slippery Rock highway about 5 miles north of Butler, and overturned in a field. Flick was seriously injured, and was taken to a Butler hospital.

According to the story told at the scene of the accident Flick was rounding a slight curve when his car got off the concrete on the right hand side of the road. He attempted to pull it back, but the car upset. Sarver was pinned under the wreckage, his skull being fractured.

Sarver was a well known business man of Butler and leaves a wife and six children.

Physicians said Mrs. Mildred Marston of Glendale, Calif., had only one year to live, so a district court at Portland, Me., invoked an old law and excused her from being arraigned on a charge of drunken driving.

Illinois Prison Officials Make Thorough Search For Weapons

(International News Service) JOLIET, Ill., July 27.—Fourteen convicts at Statesville penitentiary were in solitary confinement today because incendiary bombs, knives and other articles were discovered in their cells during the thorough search which was started Friday after several rumors of impending breaks.

Warden Henry C. Hill hoped that the search would be completed by tonight in the cell houses and thereafter the 64 acres of "campus" will be gone over inch by inch in a search for possible tunnels or caches of weapons.

In 1930 the railroads reduced fatalities nine per cent.

Young Pittsburgh Negro Is Slain In Mysterious Manner

Police Believe They Know Identity Of Slayer Who Fired From Auto

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Media Connors, 25-year-old negro today was shot and killed by a negro slayer, whom police said they know, as Connors and five other negroes sat in an automobile in Penn township. The assailant fired from another automobile, leaped into the street and fled, police said. Connors was shot through the heart. Ronia Connors, 21, the victim's brother, and Daniel Staples were held as material witnesses. Police asserted they knew the identity of the slayer.

Kiddies' Day At Park On Thursday

Big Program And Reduced Prices For Event At Cascade

A big time for the youngsters of New Castle and Lawrence county in general is planned for next Thursday at Cascade park when Manager Carl L. Shaner will be host at his annual midsummer Kiddies' day. Reduced prices for everything in the park, including Billy Glenn's famous bathing pools and his big fun house, will be the features for the youngsters that will bring them by the thousands to Cascade. The festivities will start at noon and continue till 6 o'clock in the evening, when the park will resume its regular schedule. During the afternoon there will be many special features. Mr. Shaner and Jack Holmes have seen to that. These will include a program of all sorts of sports for boys and for girls, with fine prizes for the winners in all events. In addition there will be penny scrambles and candy scrambles, open to all the kiddies. Kiddies' days are not only big events for the youngsters. They attract hundreds of adults to the park to watch the youngsters have a good time. An added attraction for the grown-ups next Thursday will be afternoon dancing on the social plan that has become so popular in New Castle and vicinity. The dancing matinee will be from 2 to 5 o'clock in Rainbow Terrace. The picnic season is in full swing at Cascade now and large and important outings are scheduled for the succeeding weeks. Manager Shaner, however, in arranging his schedule of outings, kept next Thursday open for the boys and girls of Lawrence county.

Second 'Chute Saves Jumper From Death

EVANSTON, Ill., July 27.—Saved by his quick wittedness in opening his emergency parachute when the regular one failed to work, Jack Cope, 33, parachute jumper, was convalescing at St. Francis Hospital here today. He had dropped 2,700 feet in 45 seconds, and was very close to the ground when he opened the emergency chute and broke the force of his fall. His leg doubled under him, breaking in two places, but he suffered no internal injuries. Cope was making his 501st leap from a plane at the air meet honoring Post and Gatty, round-the-world flyers, at the Wright-Curtiss airport. He indicated tonight that he will make no more jumps.

HIT BY GOLF BALL SUFFERS BRUISE

A golf ball is not so large, but when it is "zipped" from the end of a club and instead of falling in the cup, hits another player, it seems about the size of the earth, or so it seemed Friday afternoon to Miss Lillian Sarver, Park avenue. While playing on the Municipal course Friday afternoon the ball of her opponent failed to fall on the green, but caught Miss Sarver on the calf of the right leg, causing quite a painful bruise which she will be several days getting over.

DEATH VISITS THIS HOME FREQUENTLY

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 27.—Three times within three months death visited the family of the Zeller family here. Mrs. Helen Zeller Steele died on June 5, eighteen days after the death of a brother, George. Then Mrs. Rose Zeller, mother of the two, died in Monongahela hospital on July 23.

Aged Twins Take First Plane Ride

Two Brothers, Aged 87, Enthusiastic After First Flight In Air

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 27.—Eighty-seven years old to the day when they first took a seat in an airplane, George and Harrison Hedricks came back from their initial flight confirmed aviation enthusiasts. The brothers, twins, celebrated their 87th birthday anniversary here and by the way of celebrating, Lieut. Fred Nelson piloted them over the capital in a cabin plane. Both brothers enjoyed the flight, they said, and would have liked it if the ride had been longer. "Coupling oldstyle freight cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad used to scare me a lot more," remarked Harrison.

Millionaire Mackay's Bride, Famous Singer, Was Village "Smithy"

Anna Case, Who Became Metropolitan Opera Star, Wielded Hammer And Bellows In Father's Small Shop

Mrs. Clarence S. Mackay, bride of a few days, and her husband

By ETHELDA BEDFORD
Author of "Dear Diary", Central Press Feature
ROSLYN, L. I., July 27.—You'd never dream that the jeweled hands of Clarence H. Mackay's bride, the former Anna Case, Metropolitan Opera star, ever wielded a hammer and bellows in a village blacksmith shop. Or, that this beautiful, willowy brunette with a golden voice, who now presides over the 700-acre Mackay estate here, once scrubbed floors. Or, that she—who has thrilled presidents with the sweetness of her songs, and who has sung her way into the heart of her first beau, Clarence H. Mackay—whose fortune is estimated at $100,000,000—ever took 75-cent music lessons. . . . and those paid for through the generosity of a loan from a little South Branch, N. J., grocer! "Work and Purpose" No, she wouldn't discuss her romance with Mackay. But she did give this as the recipe for her career: "Work and purpose. My art always pointed the way. It was my goal (as I saw it) which has brought me happiness in the fullest sense. "Artistic success means sacrifice. "Romance? Yes, I've had sympathy with romance. Even when I've sung ballads of a girl longing for her lover I always have put myself in the girl's place, and my audiences, I know, have felt it." And her first romance (newspaper columnists never in Anna Case's 20 years before the public even have hinted of an engagement or an attraction) came after the long, hard path she trod to fame. "The story of Miss Case's climb from the proverbial rags to riches—and fame—rivals a modern Cinderella movie! "Honey-moon Projects But now—her only problem is to decide just where she would rather go on a honeymoon. . . . She may sail away with her husband on his yacht, the Machanock. To Gardiner's island, where Captain Kidd is said to have buried his treasures. (Mackay has leased the entire island). They may go to Europe, though Europe would be no novelty for either of them. A trip north also is contemplated. For the present they are contented to live at the $5,000,000 estate at Roslyn, with its fragrant gardens and marble fountains, its staff of servants—there are almost as many servants in the Mackay household as there are residents in Mrs. Mackay's home town, South Branch, which boasts of a population of 200. "Don't think that eight years in the Metropolitan Opera Company have made Mrs. Mackay forget South Branch—or South Branch forget her! She's still spoken of as "Pete Case's kid with the curls, who used to drive that limp'n' nag Daisy over to Somerville every week for singin' lessons." Anna as a Blacksmith Pete Case owned the blacksmith shop—and when he was too busy to shoe Daisy, why Anna fixed up Daisy's shoes herself! The healthy beauty of the bride testifies to her robust childhood. Tall, straight, with gardenia-scented skin and soft, dark hair waving about her face, Anna Case Mackay's vivacity belies her 42 years. She always knew what she wanted, "often has been said of Anna Case. "She knew she would get it, too—by her own merit." She wanted to study music, but her father, a deacon in the town church, didn't approve of a girl studying for the stage. The Cases lived in the little house next to the blacksmith shop—and Pete Case thought Anna should be satisfied to go to school, learn to run seams, cook and clean. . . . but the town grocer and his wife detected quality in Anna's untrained voice. So, they made the music lessons possible. Scrubbed Floors In Return After her once-a-week lesson Anna would come over and scrub the kitchen floor for the grocer's wife! Then one day her music teacher got a chance for Anna to study higher music with another teacher, and then a director of the Metropolitan heard her—and thus began her eight years with the opera company. How did she meet Mackay? He also is a director of the Metropolitan, and though she is 15 years his junior, her singing brought about their romance—her first romance. Mackay is one of the world's richest men—telegraph and telephone magnate and arts patron, but his wife, too, is wealthy—she has made a fortune through her own talent.

CHEAP SILK DRESSES LEAD TO MAN'S ARREST

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 27.—Because he sold silk dresses at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2, Kent Moore was arrested and is being held to await investigation. Officers say that Moore has not been able to offer a satisfactory explanation as to the source of his supply. When arrested he had five women's dresses and a half dozen men's shirts in his possession. How did she meet Mackay? He also is a director of the Metropolitan, and though she is 15 years his junior, her singing brought about their romance—her first romance. Mackay is one of the world's richest men—telegraph and telephone magnate and arts patron, but his wife, too, is wealthy—she has made a fortune through her own talent.

Hay Fever Yields to Doctor's Discovery

Indianapolis—What is regarded as an amazing advance in medical science is the discovery of the actual cause of Hay Fever and Asthma by the well-known Dr. Fugate. He found that these ailments originate from an unbalanced condition of the endocrine glands. After finding the cause he perfected an effective treatment that has already been used in thousands of cases, and the reports of immediate relief indicate that at last help for Hay Fever and Asthma has been found. An important booklet telling in detail about his discovery and treatment has been published by The Fugate Co., Dept. 2513, 126 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., who offer to send it free. Those troubled with Hay Fever or Asthma should write at once.—Adv.

Damages His Auto In Avoiding Car

Cars Are Damaged In Accidents On Streets Here Over Week End

Elmer Badger of Wampum R. D. No. 1, had his machine damaged to some extent Sunday at South Liberty and Lacoek street, when he was compelled to turn his machine into the curb in order to avoid a collision with the car of Michael Roth of 823 Vogan street. According to the report made to the police, Mr. Badger was enroute south on South Liberty street at Lacoek street as Michael Roth was enroute in the same direction in front of him. Mr. Badger went to the right to pass Mr. Roth and as he did so, Mr. Roth pulled to the right, causing Mr. Badger to go into the right curb in avoiding the Roth machine. Cars of James E. Borio of 840 Harrison street and Joseph Ryan of Youngstown, came together Sunday, while enroute in opposite directions on Montgomery avenue. Borio claims that the Ryan machine sideswiped and damaged his car, while Ryan claims that Borio drove head on into his machine and badly damaged his machine. Divorce Increase Shows Gain In Pennsylvania Over Nation As Whole

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of
The New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—

The trend in 1930 as compared with 1929 was more pronounced toward divorce and away from marriage in Pennsylvania than in the country in general, it would appear from an analysis of data collected by the Bureau of the Census.

These figures reveal that only seven of the forty-eight states reported greater increases in divorce in 1930 as against the previous year than did Pennsylvania. Also, only nineteen listed greater declines in marriages than did the Keystone state.

In the country as a whole last year, marriages declined 8.5 per cent in number and divorces dropped 4.9 per cent. In the Keystone state, on the other hand, weddings fell off 8.1 per cent but divorces grew in number by two per cent.

Of the forty-eight states, ten were credited with increased divorce last year and of these only seven outdistanced Pennsylvania in this respect.

Delaware led with an increase of 21.3 per cent and Maine came second with a climb of 16.7 per cent.

Marriages in 1930 increased in nine states and fell off in 39. The percentage decline in Pennsylvania was larger than in 34 of those reporting decreases.

In relation to total population, both marriage and divorce was less prevalent in Pennsylvania than in the country as a whole in 1930. Marriages occurred at the rate of 6.7 per 1,000 population in the state and at a rate of 9.2 for each 1,000 residents in the country. Divorces were granted at the rates of 0.83 per 1,000 in the state and 1.56 per 1,000 population in the nation.

Despite the trend away from marriage and toward divorce in Pennsylvania last year, there were still more marriages per divorce in the state than in the country as a unit. For every one divorce in the state there were 8.1 marriages, while in the country as a whole there were only 5.9 marriages for each divorce decree granted.

B. & O. President Quite Optimistic

Says "Times Aren't As Bad As People Think They Are"

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 27.—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, returning to Baltimore after inspecting the Chicago & Alton railroad, said that "times aren't as hard as people think they are."

"I have been as far west as Kansas, and never have I seen the crops looking better or the citizens in all sections apparently happier," he said. "Times are slow, yes. We have been forced to cut our operations 30 per cent and have furloughed many of our men, but I am confident the situation is temporary and a result of abnormal caution on the part of the buying public."

Under-Water Endurance Test Is Costly Experience For Marshall Lord

Marshall Lord, former resident of New Castle, an employee of the Liberty Explosives company at Mount Braddock, near Dunbar, Pa., is minus a set of teeth as the result of an under-water endurance test in one of the Dunbar dams recently.

Lord was in about 15 feet of water. As he came to the surface spitting out water, his teeth went along. Since then several persons have dived at the spot in search of the missing plate but have been unsuccessful.

Fifty Will Go To Canadian Camp

MERCER, July 27.—A party of 50 that may double this number before the month of camp is over will leave here July 30 for the permanent camp of the Solid Comfort Fishing club of Mercer located on the French river in Canada.

The outing is an annual event of the club of 50 years standing, making it the oldest outing club in western Pennsylvania. Donald Christie, the club secretary, and a group of helpers left Mercer July 24 for the camp to make ready for the party's arrival.

From Pittsburgh will go A. G. Clifford, Monroe Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Loskamp, Stanley Ashe, E. H. Wicks, J. O. Wicks, Edward Breitweiser and P. H. Martin. From Mercer: Hon. and Mrs. T. C. Cochran, Wilson and Charles Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McClellan, Jean McClellan, Dunham Barton. From Butler: John Brandon, R. E. Kirkpatrick, Roy Diefenderfer, Dr. P. W. Waldron and Dr. L. R. Hazlett.

BUSY MAKING PLANES
HARTFORD, Conn., July 27.—The business of making airplanes apparently has settled down to bed rock, as far as Connecticut is concerned. The State chamber of commerce found 135 firms making either entire planes or their parts on July 15. The number was ten lower than a year ago, but 116 above three years back. The little town of Stratford has two concerns making planes and East Hartford, Naugatuck, Greenwich and New Haven have one each. Hartford has twenty-six concerns making airplane engines or parts.

Persistent Treatment Necessary

"First Aid" Methods For Ringworm Cited By Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
The cause of athlete's foot was described yesterday as a microscopic vegetable fungus which gets into the skin, especially in places where it is soft and moist, such as between the toes. It sets up an inflammation which breaks out in the form of little blisters with intense itching. Other parts of the body besides the feet may be affected and the fungus germs which scratch the eruption on the toes may plant the infection in the skin anywhere—especially in the crotch and on the hand themselves.

The fungus which causes the disease lives particularly well on leather goods, in wool and on moist, dark wooden places such as shower baths, swimming pools, gymnasiums, Turkish bath and clubs. Hence shoes, woolen socks, gloves, etc., may be continuous sources of infection. In persistent cases of ringworm, it is recommended to put a small vessel such as a watch glass, containing formaldehyde in the shoes. The shoes should be aired out before wearing.

The treatment is not nearly as simple as might be supposed. Many things will kill the fungus, but it has a habit of digging in and getting beyond their reach and then breaking out again. I advised a man who had a severe case between his fingers. Every eight days all through the summer it would break out again. It was treated vigorously with chemical applications with only temporary relief. In the fall the patient went to a dermatologist, who treated it all winter with X-ray. The following summer or winter it did not appear at all but the next spring—two years after its first appearance—it showed up in exactly the same spot.

The case is recited to show how persistent treatment may have to be. From some of my correspondence it would appear that most people think one or two applications of a remedy will cure.

The best chemical remedies are sulphur, salicylic acid, iodine and thymol. A treatment recommended by a retired physician is dipping the affected parts in gasoline for short periods.

Of other methods keeping the part dry and exposing it to sunshine is the simplest and often most effective. The X-rays are usually necessary in stubborn, deep seated cases.

The standard treatment is by Whitfield's ointment. The composition of this is salicylic acid, half a drachm, benzoic acid and lanolin, each a drachm and petrolatum up to an ounce. It can be obtained at most druggists by asking for Whitfield's ointment. The simple, easy cases usually yield to this, but persistent and recurrent cases should have medical advice.

Complications are frequent. A secondary pus infection may supervene. This must be treated by rest, wet dressings and ammoniated mercury ointment before the fungus is attacked. Erysipelas may begin around the breaks in the skin where the blisters open.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendenening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

The Flower Parade

WATERING
Written for Central Press
By DR. KARL F. KELLERMAN
Bureau of Plant Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture
Hot days are here and flower lovers pay more and more attention to watering. The best time of day to water plants is a subject of perennial controversy—some holding that watering in the heat of the day will "scald" them. Scientific evidence does not prove this conclusively, the Bureau of Plant Industry says.

There are, however, a few pointers to be remembered in watering. Lawns may be watered at almost any time with equally good results. Trees and shrubs usually have sufficient root systems to supply their needs, although watering in times of deficient rainfall is necessary. Sprinkling the foliage of trees and shrubs occasionally helps to keep the leaves or needles clean and makes them less liable to insect injury.

In general, syringing the foliage of flowering plants occasionally is beneficial. There is always dust and other foreign matter in the air and syringing removes this. Nature washes the plants when rain falls and man does well to follow Nature's example.

One warning in sprinkling, which applies to all plants susceptible to disease, is not to leave the foliage wet at night. This is especially true of roses. Diseases thrive on the moistened leaves. The morning, therefore, is a good time for watering roses.

Watering need not necessarily be done at regular stated intervals. The best plan is to examine the soil two or three inches deep. If it feels dry, turn on the hose. If it is moist, the plant does not need water.

Thorough watering is essential. The water should be applied slowly with a light spray. If only the surface soil gets water, the roots of the plant tend to grow close to the surface of the ground. If the soil is soaked thoroughly, the roots go deeper. Deep-rooted plants withstand dry weather better than shallow-rooted ones.

It is possible to over-water plants, especially if they are in heavy soil, as it holds the water too long. The best plan is to try the dampness of the soil by hand. Although there is some argument about the effect of the water in various cities, it is a general rule that water fit for drinking is suitable for flowers and plants.

WOULD EMPLOY THE DEAF
(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA — A suggestion that the ten million deaf persons in this country be delegated to do the noisy work of the nation, is to be made by Dr. Matthew S. Erner, professor of otology in the School of Medicine, Temple University, to the Pan-American Congress of Medicine, in Mexico City. The meeting closes July 27. Dr. Erner will represent the Temple along with Dr. Chevalier Jackson, professor of bronchology, and Dr. Wayne Babcock, professor of clinical surgery.

TOM MIX TO COME BACK
(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 27.—Tom Mix, original cowboy screen actor whose portrayal of daring western drama in silent films has made him known to millions of children and adults is to return to the screen after an absence of several years. Mix will report for work after his circus engagement ends in October, it is said. The film contract will call for a series of western pictures, probably to be patterned after the original series of wild west days. With the added appeal of talking sequences and Mix's popularity the films are expected to attract considerable attention.

NO MORE TRAIN TOOTS
(International News Service)
BOONE, Ia., July 27.—Train whistles are great for preventing accidents but in this city they are just so much noise. At least that's the attitude taken by residents of the town when they petitioned the city council here to aid in eliminating unnecessary tooting. The council passed an ordinance and now trains going through Boone must not whistle except when absolutely necessary. A fine or imprisonment clause puts teeth in the new ordinance.

"BLACK MARIE" DELUXE
(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, July 27.—For the first time in history the United States Marshall here has a patrol car of his own for hauling prisoners. From now on violators of the federal laws will not suffer the ignominious degradation of riding in a common police patrol wagon. They will be transferred from the jail to the federal building in a spanking new "black maria."

Women's wages in large cities and industrial centers show a sharp decline since the beginning of the year.

Grove City Scouts Plan To Camp On Slippery Rock

There will be 100 Boy Scouts in camp starting August 3rd at Camp Pithian on Slippery Rock creek states Scout Commissioner R. M. Stewart, of Grove City.

The camp is a permanent location presented by Dr. E. J. Fithian. Four cottages for housing the boys have been erected this year the gift of churches and the American Legion.

The last week of camp will be devoted to training of new scout masters and cubs. Patrol duty will also come in for a share of instruction during this time.

Board Rejects History As "Wet"

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 27.—Overruling the recommendation of Franklin's superintendent of schools and a committee that included the new principal of Franklin high school and a group of experienced teachers, Franklin school board voted 4 to 3 to reject the "Socialized History of the United States," by Vannest & Smith, and select Elson's "The United States, Its Past and Present."

Formal action climaxed six weeks' consideration of a new history for the eighth grade, and meant victory for the group of directors led by Ambrose Sheasley, who characterized mention of early drinking proclivities in the United States as "wet propaganda."

Dr. Myers Invents Diversions For Older Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

During these long, hot summer months, the mother often has the problem of suggesting to the children something they can do. Here are some things the older children of school age can do:

Cross out all the even numbers 3, 8, 11, 6, 5, 9, 4, 2, 15, 20, 13, 17, 19, 21, 24, 50, 35, 19, 16, 12, 23, 65, 48, 32, 27, 61, 60, 38, 100, 95, 97, 90, 81, 14, 103, 88, 72, 51, 77, 33, 26, 29, 47, 82, 59, 195, 276, 387, 500 84.

On a sheet of paper write the following words in ten columns with five words to a column, in such a way that all the words of each column shall be alike in some way: Run, horse, orange, jump, radish, apple, dish, elephant, train, lettuce, work, rose, Chicago, cup, bowl, ship, lemon, Edison, ash, pansy, dog, play, automobile, marigold, Lindbergh, Berkeley, hickory, onion, Denver, elm, geranium, carrot, peach, tiger, saucer, Hoover, cow, maple, oak, Ford, New York, platter, airplane, banana, Coolidge, astor, Atlanta, buggy, walk, beat. Show your work to your parents.

Make a list of all the foods advertised in this paper today. Make a similar list of all the articles of clothing.

Make a list of all the words on the first page that have more than eight letters.

With an atlas or a geography, find on a map all the places named on the first two pages of this paper. How many states are represented? How many countries?

How many words can you make from the name of this newspaper?

The words in the rows below are mixed up. Put them together so that each row will make a complete sentence.

Divorces Bring Fame To Town Near Ohio Line

St. Clairsville, O., Is Rapidly Becoming A Second Reno

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 27.—Not only has St. Clairsville gained a reputation for coal mine strikes, but it also is beginning to gain fame as a divorce center.

The situation hasn't quite reached the proportions of Reno's "mill," but for its population of some 2240, nearly 1,000 couples decided to end their marital state last year.

While St. Clairsville is a "parting of the ways" center, Wellsburg, W. Va., 30 miles up the river, is the center of marriage "traffic" of the two states. Wellsburg has a population of 5,000 and boasts of 5,000 marriages last year.

"Big Business" for Two
Meanwhile the traffic brings "big business" to the two towns. Hotels, road houses, gasoline stations, mid-get golf courses, restaurants, ministers, taxi cab drivers, bell hops and the two counties are "cleaning up."

The only requirements for a marriage in Wellsburg call for being 21 years old and single. Citizens of the town have the process well organized. Two taxi cab drivers will meet a couple at the train, see that a marriage license is procured, find a minister and take husband and wife back to the train there for a flat rate of $10. Pastors have shortened the marriage vows for "hurry-up" marriage and charge a flat fee of $5.

"Extreme Cruelty"
Here 30 days in Belmont County constitutes time for "residence" in order to obtain a divorce. "Extreme cruelty" is stretched to the extreme and three minutes in court with a $50 fee bring a divorce, provided, of course, that the case is uncontested. Then it may take a day or two.

It is estimated that during the past year the marriage caravan spent $40,000 to have wedding bells ring up the river, and $100,000 to muffle them here.

Mount Whitney Trail For Riders Opened

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Mount Whitney, highest peak in the United States, may now be visited by horse-back parties over a trail recently completed by the National Park Service, in co-operation with the U. S. Forest Service, it was learned from Director H. M. Albright, of the Park Service.

The peak of Mount Whitney was for some time inaccessible to all but mountaineers, who made the long climb on foot, but the new trail, which was virtually completed late last fall, will make the top of the highest mountain in the United States available to all who are willing to ride all day on the back of a horse.

THAT GOOD CIGARETTE—THEY SATISFY

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press
NEW YORK, July 27.—If any other set were used as frequently in the movies as that view north from Times Square, audiences would set up a howl. But they take their New York in astoundingly frequent doses and like it.

Some eccentric statistician should compute the number of times Manhattan has appeared as a background for whole films and parts of them. Revelation that 75 per cent of all screen stories have touched once or oftener in New York wouldn't surprise.

Offhand the names of several talkies with the New York motif occur to me, all scheduled for the immediate future. There's "This Is New York," "Skyline," "Twenty-four Hours" and "Girls About Town"—and these are but a fraction of the same breed now in production. Why is the place so sure-fire? Washington, D. C. and Richmond, Va., are much lovelier and relatively as jammed with celebrities. Louisville, Ky., has more grace and leisurely living; Alexandria, Va., is more pointedly colored by a rich past. Minneapolis, Minn., is newer and windier and lustier. New Orleans, La., has, for its size, more excellent restaurants. Question a Manhattan beauty and you will find she

The scene in front of Police Headquarters the other day—taxis, limousines and sidewalk offering up a strange assortment of hard-faced, pallid little men, bland, red-faced big men and sleek, overdressed gentlemen in afternoon attire... Three hundred managers and owners of dance halls and night clubs scurrying to hear the law laid down to them in solemn conference by Commissioner Mulrooney...

Tucker Faithfull, sister of the ill-fated Starr, telling newspapermen: "I'm a model now, but don't get excited! It's only for hats!"... She is prettier, in the flesh, than pictures indicate Starr to have been—and Starr was a knockout... Incidentally, although the Faithfull home is full of pictures of Starr, from childhood on, I saw only two off-reprinted poses of the mysteriously drowned girl in the press while the story was "hot."

The Leviathan and other palatial liners now have waiting lists for four-day cruises north and they don't care whether they lose money on the extremely low fares or not; the idea is, all the people who see the service aboard will want to go to Europe...

"Lobster watch" office boys in a big daily's city room, practising nibble shots with waste-baskets for cups...

"KNOW HIM? WHY?"
Most Manhattan parties include one group which engages in the little game of out-knowing celebrities.

It is played this way: Someone mentions a famous character and the first person to claim close acquaintance with him wins that round.

This is a true account of an incident during the feting of Post and Gatty here. It was an extremely smart tea and a number of pretty girls were there. One quiet, ravishing brunette listened to the bandying of big names as long as she could.

Then someone casually mentioned the autogyro. The beauty's control snapped. Brightly she broke in: "Otto to Giro? I know him well. Isn't he managing editor of the Journal now?"

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

With the hundreds of electric lights scattered all over the city on its various streets and making this community one of the best lighted districts in the country, it will no doubt be a little difficult for the younger generations to realize that there was a time when gas lights were the vogue on many of the streets of the city and that in their time they were considered quite up-to-date. Of course, this was some time back, some 35 years ago and more. Gas lights did much to brighten up the community and relieved the darkness that had prevailed largely at night on the streets of the town in prior years. In a part of the period this form of lighting was carried out in a very systematic manner. There were men who each day made the rounds of the lights and saw to it that the equipment was in order and giving the best possible service. There are many persons in the city who will remember these men making their rounds and going up on their short ladders to the lamp globe and burner. For just a brief period, if memory serves us right, there was even an actual competitive problem created by the contention over whether or not electric light or gas lights should be used for lighting the streets. That was, of course, in the earlier days of electricity and long before the perfected lights of today were even thought of and gas lights were still considered as about perfection. Tomorrow: North Jefferson street as a center of activity in the winter time many years ago.

Ooh! Don't Go Near the Water

Johnny Weismuller, famous swimmer, with his bride, the former Bobbe Arnst, musical comedy star, in some grotesque pantomime which might almost mean "Ooh! Don't go near the water," if Johnny wasn't the champion that he is. The happy couple was just about to enjoy a plunge (their expressions notwithstanding) in the Ambassador pool during a recent visit to Washington.

Flew With Encyclical

A deed that went unheralded at the time is now being related by friends of the secret chamberlain to Pope Pius, Msgr. Francis J. Spellman, who 25 years ago was a red-cheeked, ball-playing youngster of Witman, Mass. He flew to Paris from Rome with the pope's answer to Mussolini, beyond the reach of Fascist suppression.

Agree on Fishing, Anyway

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, and President Hoover may be on opposite sides of the political breakwater, but they're both enthusiastically fond of the same sport—fishing. Here's Governor Roosevelt (seated) emulating Izaak Walton off the stern of a motor launch anchored off Westhampton Beach, L. I. He is the guest of Dr. Basil O'Connor, a former law partner. The White House may still hold a fisherman if the political tide should turn.

Hoover's New Aide

Lieutenant J. L. Monahan (above), U. S. Army, has won the enviable distinction of being appointed new military aide to President Herbert Hoover. Lieutenant Monahan apparently is one of the best looking of Uncle Sam's soldiers, in addition to his military ability.

New Spanish-American Union

Picture made just after their wedding in Cannes, France, shows Grace Moore, diva of the Metropolitan Opera and star of the motion pictures, with her new husband, Valentin Parera, popular Spanish actor, smiling happily at the camera. The wedding was a surprise to American friends of the bride, but many, among whom was Charlie Chaplin, attended the ceremony, which was witnessed by an array of European notables, dukes and princes. The newlyweds are honeymooning in Venice.

LONDON BRIDGE

Russia Holds Her as Hostage

Professor Dmitri Krynin (left), of Yale, whose wife (right) is being held in Russia as a hostage to insure his return to Moscow, where he is needed as one of Russia's most valuable highway engineers. He teaches that subject at Yale. In an effort to secure the release of his wife and permit her to rejoin him in America, Krynin sent two identical cables to George Bernard Shaw and Viscountess Astor, on an inspection tour of Russia, with a plea that they use their influence to help him. Their efforts proved futile, however.

Soldiers Guard Man From Mob

Everett Holloway (right) is shown with Major Oltho Robinson, of the Tennessee National Guard, at the Nashville jail after Holloway had been brought to Nashville from Springfield, Tenn., under guard of National Guardsmen. Holloway was held for the shooting of Sheriff Mart Murphy and lodged in the jail at Springfield. A mob of 5,000 threatened to break in and take Holloway. Machine gunners kept the mob at bay while the prisoner was rushed to Nashville.

Buddies True

Marguerite Churchill, shown with her beloved horse and pal, Diamond, is beautiful enough to talk about herself, but she'd much rather tell you about her buddies, who she claims is "almost a human being." Most girls are over-anxious to get a diamond from a prospective husband, but Marguerite, screen star, is happy with her Diamond.

Short on Name

The smiling resident of Chicago pictured here is not scantily equipped when it comes to most things offered by this world, but with his name—well, that's something else again. He claims, and with good grounds, that he has the shortest name in the United States. The lists are now open. Can you beat Mr. A. A? That's his name, no kiddin'!

A Meeting of Moment

Ostensibly Ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith is wishing Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt the best of luck on his fishing trip in Peconic Bay as the two chieftains of the Democratic party meet at Westhampton, L. I. Political dopesters have been debating for some time what will happen when the Democratic National Convention rolls around to nominate a candidate for the Presidency. Governor Roosevelt, in the past, has been a staunch supporter of Al Smith. The question is will Smith back Roosevelt now that he has aspirations for high office? It's a meeting of moment.

Cubs Advance To Second Place In National League

Brooklyn Dodgers Falter Before Pirates While Cubs Keep Plugging

INDIANS FINALLY TRIM ATHLETICS

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 27.—While the wise men of baseball sat back waiting for Brooklyn to undermine the St. Louis Cardinals at the top of the National League, the Chicago Cubs beat the Robins to the punch and today moved into second place. They are eight games behind St. Louis but showing plenty of fight. Charlie Grimm won yesterday's game for Chicago, 2 to 1 against the Phillies, opening the ninth with a triple. Teahout running for Grimm scored the winning tally when Jim Elliott, who had just relieved pitcher Dudley, threw away the ball.

Indians Beat Macks
Averill's 20th homer of the season and 18 other blasts off Hoyt and down the Athletics, 13 to 2 ending the A's winning streak at 13 games. It was Hoyt's first defeat since he was picked up by the A's from Detroit.

Frankhouse and Johnston kept St. Louis and Boston scoreless until the eleventh inning, when both weakened. Ed Brandt rescued the Braves as he replaced Frankhouse and Boston won 3 to 2. In the night cap, St. Louis took a 5 to 4 triumph with Derringer showing a little more than Cunningham.

Yankees Split
Lefty O'Doul was fined $100 for talking back to an umpire on Saturday and the Robins dropped the opener to Cincinnati, 4 to 3, but Dazzy Vance chased the gloom in the final stages of the game as they won, 5 to 0. It was Vance's first winning effort since July 4.

Forty thousand fans saw the New York Yankees break even with the Chicago White Sox. Faber was effective in the first game, taking it to 4 while Caraway didn't care at all in the second and gave the Yankees 13 runs before someone shouted "get out." Wilbur Wendel, a youngster, finished the sad story for the Sox, the Yankees finally emerging on top, 22 to 5. Lou Gehrig scored his 100th run in the opener, the first major league to accomplish the feat this season.

Gosse Goblin, cooked the Washington Senators as he hit a homer and another safety scoring three runs for St. Louis. The count was St. Louis 5, Washington 2.

Oliver and Berry doubled to win 7 to 6 for Boston over Detroit in the ten inning opener. Detroit claimed the vesper 7 to 3 with Charlie Geringer hitting three doubles and two singles to wait in three runs. The score was Detroit 7, Boston 3.

Tigers Vanquish Wampum 7 To 4

West Side Tigers hung up a 7 to 4 victory over Wampum at Wampum Saturday afternoon. Wilcox and Brakovich hurled, with the former having the edge. Frutchy came through with a home run. Guanaugh had 11 chances without an error at first, while Newton collected six. Jackson and J. Brakovich each had six assists and an error. The box score:

S. S. Board Of Trade Wins In Tennis Match

The South Side Board of Trade tennis team defeated the South Side Racquetball Club team by a score of 4 to 2, in matches played Saturday at the Racquetball Courts on South Mercer street.

In the first singles game Luther Rowe of the Board of Trade defeated N. Biondi in straight sets 6-2, 6-2. Eddie Seneski of the Board of Trade won the second singles match in three sets from Eugene Morelli 3-6, 6-0, 6-2. Carl Genko of the Racquetball Club defeated Chas Rowe of the Board of Trade 6-4, 6-3. The final singles match was taken by Harold Higgins of the Board of Trade team from N. DeCarbo 6-6, 6-1.

The first doubles game was won by the Racquetball N. DeCarbo and Carl Genko beating Harold Harris and Chas Rowe in three hotly contested sets 2-6, 6-3, 7-5. In the final doubles match Luther Rowe and Eddie Seneski of the Board of Trade won over Paul Cuba and Sebastian Isabella, in straight sets 6-2, 6-1. In a previous match game earlier this month the teams tied at 3-3.

Walker Wants To Meet Schmeling

Mickey Walker Now Wants Crack At World's Heavy-weight Crown

SHARKEY THROUGH EXPERTS DECLARE

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 27.—Max Schmeling's manager, Mr. Joe Jacobs, is willing—oh, yes indeed—to give Mickey Walker a shot at the heavyweight title. A Schmeling-Walker bout, he opines, would be a "money" and would draw $1,000,000.

As for that Jack Sharkey person, Mr. Jacobs thinks he is "out"—that he eliminated himself as a heavy-weight contender by failing to do better than "draw" with Walker in that much-discussed affair the other night.

It strikes us that Mr. Jacobs is a trifle over-egged to give Mickey Walker recognition. He certainly did not move any too fast in dealing with Sharkey on the matter of a return match with Schmeling after the Boston gob almost ruined his fighter in their memorable set to a year ago last June. It will be recalled that Maxie hardly laid a glove on Sharkey up to the moment the American contender threw a low hook that was called a foul and lost him the fight.

Schmeling backs down. Many competent experts believe to this day that Schmeling was afraid to give Sharkey a return match. If he wasn't why did he pick W. L. ("Young") Stribling to fight Sharkey—a match that didn't make expenses? Every body knows a Schmeling-Sharkey return bout would have been a sell-out.

The Sharkey who fought the other night against Walker wasn't Sharkey who almost annihilated Schmeling. Maybe Sharkey was in there with any top notch heavyweight. If he has it was just too bad for Schmeling that it wasn't Schmeling, and not Walker, who was fighting him last Wednesday night. The Schmeling that whipped Stribling would have given Sharkey of the other night an artistic lacing.

Stars Enter In Tennis Tournery

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody And Johnny Doeg Stars Playing At Seabright

(International News Service)

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 27.—America's own "Wimbledon", the annual tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club, gets under way here today with one of the most brilliant fields in the 40 years of historic tournament.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, world's women's champion, and John Hope Doeg, national men's titleholder, top the entry lists in the singles play, which are studied with the names of almost every prominent player in the country. Frank Shields, who is barnstorming in France, and Wilmer Allison, famous Texan, are the only top-ranking men absent, and every one of the women's first ten is in the running for the ladies' bowl.

Lot Of Interest.

For the first time since 1926, when Queen Helen last played at this "high hat" Jersey water resort, the spotlight in the singles competition will be focused not on the men's singles, but on the women's tourney instead.

Marcellas To Play Elephants Tonight

The Marcellas of the Class B league of midgets will tackle the Elephants midget team tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the B. & O. field. The teams are about evenly matched and a good game is expected. Fred Marcella announced today. The B. & O. field has been put in a good shape for the game.

Games are wanted by the Marcellas with the following midget teams: Knights of St. Vitus, Williams A. C., Gordon A. C., Keystones or any other fast teams, call 4073-R and ask for Louis, or 858 and ask for Fred Marcella, any time during the day.

The Marcellas have won fifteen games out of seventeen met so far this year, and have compiled an enviable record.

Less Effort In Swing At Contact, Urges Roy Grove

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

Central Press Association

Few golfers realize the importance of the swing at the point of contact.

The less effort expended at this point, the straighter and more accurate the stroke will become. This is controlled on the pivot, that point between the top of the head and the heels.

The most important point to a long, straight ball is the right hand. When this hand is punching straight out at the hole the ball is then sent on a straight line.

The rolling wrists of the right hand does not take effect until after the ball has been hit through.

The average golfer starts the roll before he hits the ball, which opens the face of the club or closes it, getting a hook or a slice.

The right arm is as stiff in hitting through as the left is in coming back.

Keep the head over the ball and let the shoulders work round on a hinge. Let the right shoulder come under the chin and then hook up. This applies to the iron game as well as to wooden clubs.

The hands must punch out more so towards the hole when using the iron clubs.

Note in the illustration how the player looks at the point after hitting. The theory is to keep on hitting after the ball is hit. Any twist or turn at the point of contact will hook or slice the ball.

Keep the feet close together to keep from turning the club.

Plan New Event Every Monday At Local Field Club

Will Open The Events At The New Castle Field Club Tonight

Monday evenings have been selected as the time for holding competitions among the golfers of the club in some new and different type of golfing contests from those that are regularly held at the course of the club. Indications are that these events will prove most attractive to the average golf enthusiast of the club and that Monday evenings will prove most attractive to the followers of the sport.

This evening at 5:30 o'clock, the first of the special Monday evening events will be staged. It is to be a mixed two ball foursome. The golfers of the club are already much enthused over the affair.

When play has been completed, a buffet lunch will be served, adding much to the pleasure of the occasion.

SPYING ON SPORTS

By WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor.

Far from creating a new fistic muddle the draw battle between Mickey (Mouse) Walker, the middle-weight who fights like a heavy, and Jack Sharkey, the heavyweight who fights like nobody, may have clarified things in the matter of finding a suitable opponent to joust with Herr Maxie Schmeling sometime next summer.

The draw verdict saved Sharkey from being cast out into the utter darkness of discard, something that would have been his sad lot if the two judges had seen eye to eye with Referee Donovan, who thought Walker won.

The verdict cost Sharkey a lot of prestige but the Boston gob is still on the fringe of heavyweight challenges. Had Mickey won the decision looked for battle 'twixt Jack and Primo Carnera would have been impossible. Now it's still an attractive card.

There would be an interesting set-up among the heavyweights: Sharkey to battle Carnera.

Walker to take on Tommy Loughran.

The two winners to meet for the right to clash with the jarring German and his world heavyweight title.

The first two matches would be highly interesting. The public grave evidence of becoming steamed up over the proposed battle between the gob and the Italian giant (which had been scheduled for this month) when Madison Square Garden intervened and stopped arrangements.

The Garden had Carnera lined up for a crack at Schmeling and the papers said Primo could not meet a contending heavyweight until he had disposed of or been disposed of by Moxie.

When the Garden dispensed a cancellation of the battle it left unanswered the question of whether Primo could really lick as good a man as the gabby gob.

Sharkey, regardless of his showing against the Mick, would be a good match with Carnera.

However, a tussle between Walker and Loughran would still better Tommy gave Walker a 10-round pasting in 1929 when the Toy Bulldog tried to win Loughran's lightweight crown.

Loughran has improved some since then. Walker has improved a great deal. They are the two lightest men among the heavyweight contenders today and would be bound to make a much better match than the Mickey-Jack bout was.

A fight between any two winners of these bouts would be an attractive one and would produce as logical a contender for the heavyweight crown as we've had since Gene Tunney's pre-title days.

Frenchmen Win Davis Cup Title

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 27.—Paeons of praise were raised today for France's veteran racket wielders, Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, to make a much better match than the Mickey-Jack bout was.

Their latest victory was scored here yesterday when they humbled the hopes of Great Britain, conquerors of the United States, in the final round of play. The gallant French triumvirate emerged victorious by a match score of 3 to 2.

Clips 2-Mile Mark

Back to his old form, once more (above) bettered the world's mark (above) the two-mile run at Helsinki, Finland, covering the distance in 8 minutes, 59 3-5 seconds. The listed record of 9:01 4-10 was set in 1926 by Edwin Wide of Sweden.

O'Doul Refuses To Accept Fine

More Trouble For National League Umpires—O'Doul Is Belligerent

DODGER PLAYER PLANS PROTEST

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 27.—More trouble for President John A. Heydler's umpire system appeared today. Frank J. (Lefty) O'Doul refuses to take yesterday's $100 fine imposed upon him by the league head without making himself heard.

Upon receipt of Heydler's telegram the fiery Brooklyn outfielder announced he intended filing a protest and bringing in more than a score of Pittsburgh fans as witnesses to the decision of Umpire Charles Donnelly.

O'Doul, who was put out of the game by Donnelly in Pittsburgh Saturday, promptly secured the signatures and addresses of about twenty persons who expressed themselves as eager to offer testimony on the decision. Heydler's wire told O'Doul the fine was imposed and payment within five days "for violation of playing rules and obscene language to the umpire."

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stock Prices Are Moderately Lower

By THEODORE KOSLOW
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 27.—The stock market continued under the influence of the shadow cast by the impending U. S. Steel dividend meeting, and prices worked moderately lower in early trading today.

While the extreme dullness which had been witnessed throughout the recent reactionary periods was taken as a confirmation of the report that professionals had declared a "moratorium" on short selling, for the time being at least, there were indications in today's session that the Bears were quietly sending out feelers in an effort to test the resistance of the present range of prices.

Auburn Auto, for example, took a sudden nose-dive in the first hour, sinking rapidly to 149, for a net loss of 7 1/4 points, before it steadied.

The general run of pivotal leaders, such as U. S. Steel, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, and Westinghouse, backed and filled narrowly, and a number of these favorites sagged to new low levels on the movement, before turning upward.

U. S. Steel, after an initial dip to 89 5/8, gradually improved its position to reach 90 3/8, nominally above its close of last week. American Can did likewise, but taking the market as a whole, it was increasingly evident that there was a plentiful supply of offerings on hand at slightly above those ruling at Saturday's close.

The sagging action of the rails was taken as a signal by many market observers that a further downward readjustment of prices was likely before any worth-while rally developed. Selling in this group was largely based on the disappointing run of June earnings statements now coming on hand. Atchafalaya dropped off 1 1/4 points to 155 1/8; New York Central was off a point at 79 1/2; and Union Pacific dipped 2 points to 158.

Utilities were irregularly lower, although no important declines were registered. Oils, motors, coppers, amusements, and specialties drifted about uncertainly.

Commodities continued irregular with cotton barely steady, and wheat slightly lower.

Believe Man Buried Here Was Imposter

Veterans Bureau Official Says Man Alleged To Have Died Here, Still Alive

STATE CLAIM WAS ERRONEOUSLY PAID

Belief that the man who died here on December 12, 1928, under the name of George Vincent McCormick was an imposter is expressed following the receipt of a letter by Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, stating that George V. McCormick, in whose behalf claim for benefits was made, is not deceased.

The man who died here claimed that he was George Vincent McCormick and that he had served in Battery F, 50th field artillery, He stated that his father was George H. McCormick of 304 Douglas avenue, St. John, New Brunswick.

He had been in New Castle for a short time and had been employed as an auto mechanic when he took suddenly ill and was removed to the hospital, where he subsequently died on December 12, 1928.

The day that the man died Pat Dempsey, who was then secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, telephoned to the man's father in New Brunswick, Canada, asking what disposition be made of the body. The father at that time stated that he was in no position to come here and asked that the body be buried here.

This was done and a military funeral was accorded the deceased man by local veterans.

Claim Presented

Claim was then presented for funeral allowance for the man, but the father, residing in New Brunswick, would not sign the papers which were sent to him in connection with the claim, and never acknowledged receipt. The local undertaker who buried the man was finally reimbursed by the Veterans Bureau for the funeral, through the interest taken in the case by Congressman Swick.

Today Secretary Potter received word from H. L. McCoy, director of Insurance for the U. S. Veterans Bureau, stating that it appears that George Vincent McCormick is not deceased and that payment was erroneously made to his beneficiary, George H. McCormick.

Director McCoy, in his communication, refers to the fact that George V. McCormick, on whom information is sought, was a member of Co. C, 310 cavalry, and it is believed that the man who died here possibly knew the real McCormick and was posing under his name, and possibly wasn't even a war veteran.

At any rate, the man who died here received a military funeral and the father of George V. McCormick was evidently paid the insurance money due him as his beneficiary.

Chicago Woman Is Jailed As Killer

Woman Claims Husband Was Killed In Tussle For Gun During Quarrel

(International News Service) CHICAGO, July 27.—Quarrelling with his wife over a clause in a "happiness" pact concerning romance with other women, Dell F. Harbaugh was shot and killed and today his wife was in jail. If police can prove "it" at Mrs. Harbaugh pulled the trigger formal charges will be made.

Mrs. Harbaugh said she threatened to shoot herself because she thought her husband had an engagement with another woman and that he tried to take the weapon from her. Instead, it was accidentally discharged, the bullet piercing his heart. At first she insisted he killed himself.

Chileans Rejoice; President Quits

President Ibanez Quits Office In Face Of Nationwide Opposition

WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN

(International News Service) SANTIAGO, Chile, July 27.—All Chile joyously celebrated today the resignation and flight of General Carlos Ibanez, who as president ruled the country for seven years with dictatorial power. The whereabouts of the former president was unknown.

One report said that he had taken refuge in the American embassy here. This was denied by William S. Culbertson, the American minister, who was reported to have said that he would have refused sanctuary to the unpopular official.

Before resigning yesterday in the face of nationwide rioting in opposition to his regime, Ibanez turned over his office to Senator Pedro Opazo, president of the senate, who immediately issued a call for an emergency session of congress.

Riot Over Regime

While anti-government students in Santiago, Chile, continued to voice defiance of the regime of President Carlos Ibanez (above) and kept themselves barricaded in university buildings while daring troops to fire on them as the aftermath of a general riot staged in the streets of the capital, the principal military leaders of Chile renewed their pledge of loyalty to President Ibanez. He is conceded to have the support of the strongest armed organizations in the country.

Probe His "Idea"

Since Chicago appointed an official greeter, Frank B. Lacy (above) has developed a supplementary idea which he thinks is great, but which the State's Attorney is not so sure about. Frank's scheme was to conduct an unofficial, but supplemental city greeting service, the crux of which is entertainment of visiting tired business men by beautiful party girls. Apparently the proverbial T. B. M. are going to get a break.

Heap Big Mayor Beats Tomtom

Since Mayor George Baker, of Portland, Oregon, didn't join the "Apaches" when he recently visited Paris as a member of the American majority party touring France, the Indians who inhabit the Glacier National Park took him into their tribe when the city executive stopped off for a visit at the park on his way back to Portland. Thoroughly enjoying himself, Mayor Baker is shown beating the tomtom for his own initiation.

Joplin, Missouri, Pro Takes Title At St. Paul, Minnesota, In Fine Manner

(International News Service) ST. PAUL, Minn., July 27.—Horton Smith, young golf pro, returned to the big money today, taking the St. Paul $10,000 open with his low score of 278, 10 under par for 72 holes. Smith's winning share was $2,500.

Sensation of the winter season a year ago, Smith has been in eclipse since, but his rounds of 69-69-67-73 were too much for even a field which included Harry Cooper, second with 281; George Von Elm, and Walter Hagen, tied for third at 284; and Ed Dudley fifth at 285. Cooper collected $2,000, Von Elm and Hagen, $1,500 and Dudley $800.

Aged Survivors Of Fire In Pittsburgh, Hopeful

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Gray-haired and wrinkled, but with faded eyes still gleam with hope, aged charges of the Little Sisters of the Poor who have recovered from their experiences in the fire that destroyed their home, talked today of the fire of their fright . . . but mostly of the mock "little sisters" who disdained death to rescue "us old uns."

A tour of Pittsburgh's hospitals and private homes where the aged inmates were given shelter revealed almost childlike hope and expectancy as the dominant emotions in these men and women, nearly all past the Biblical span of three score and ten.

Face Future Bravely
"Mother" Elizabeth Hoff, beloved by all of the charges, faced the future confidently as she prepared to leave St. Francis hospital. She said:

"It's sad to lose the old place; sadder still to remember the horrors of Friday night, but God will provide. And we still have the good little sisters. They'll look after us. Her face lighted up as she spoke of the Benton avenue home where many of the survivors are being taken.

"They tell me it is wonderful," she said. "Great lawns and grand flowers, shady places and nice cool spots to rest from the sun. Soon we'll be happy together again."

Joanna O'Leary, aged 90, greeted the reporter with a cheerful smile and that was all. She had nothing to say—"just too happy to talk." Happy for herself, partly, but mostly for her son, Lawrence, a city fireman, who dashed through smoke and flames in a vain attempt to save his mother. She had been removed by another rescuer and it was not until the son sought for hours throughout the city that he learned she was safe.

James Cooper, 77, former wealthy farmer, whose Cambria county farm was known as one of the finest in the state, said the two years he had spent at the home were the happiest of his life.

"I hope some day to see the home rebuilt," he said. "Then I can spend my last years there."

The nearest thing to the heart of John Schumaker, blind survivor, is baseball. He asked eagerly about the batting averages of O'Doul and Henry, his favorites, dismissed the fire with—"Oh, we just told each other to keep cool"—and terminated the interview because, he explained, "I have to get the Sunday scores on the radio now and see if Ruth or Gehrig hit any more homers."

Hope, faith and courage—these traits marked the outlook of these people, who saw the little they had owned, and the home they had found in their declining years, snuffed out by a fire that took the lives of 40 of their comrades.

MEERMANS AT WORLD CONFAB

Leaves With Frank Baldwin And Norwegian Youth For Meeting In Toronto

R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the New Castle Young Men's Christian Association, and Frank Baldwin, 308 East Wallace avenue were in Toronto, Can., this morning at the opening of the first of a series of conferences that will mark the International Y. M. C. A. Conference.

With Meermans and Baldwin was Rolf Vodel, a Norwegian youth who had been staying at the Butler Y. M. C. A. camp for the past three weeks and who left for Toronto as a boy delegate.

The conferences which were opened by the meeting in Toronto promise to be the most significant ever held in the history of the Y. M. C. A. world movement.

Leaders from not less than 40 countries are in attendance. Immediately following the Toronto meeting the 20th World Conference will be opened in Cleveland beginning August 4 and continuing until the 9th.

Meermans and Baldwin, the latter a boy delegate to the conference, will return here next week before the opening of the Cleveland meeting. Baldwin is the son of Mrs. Nina C. Baldwin. He has been active in local Y. M. C. A. work since a young boy.

Mark Erie Battle Triumphs Friday

White And Senator Lewis To Speak At Put-In-Bay Memorial To Perry

PORT CLINTON, O., July 27.—The nation will listen in Friday as delayed dedication ceremonies are held at the memorial at Put-In-Bay, northeast of here, commemorating the victory of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and his heroic-made fleet over the British for mastery of Lake Erie in the War of 1812. The memorial was completed 15 years ago.

From a stand erected on the spacious plaza flanking the high marble column which looks down on the scene of Perry's triumph, will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio hookup of eulogies by Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois and Governor George White and others.

Webster P. Huntington of Columbus, O., and Mount Sterling, Ky., president of the Perry's victory memorial commission, will preside as temporary chairman and John H. Clarke of Cleveland former associate justice of the United States supreme court, as permanent chairman. A committee headed by Edwin A. Scott, president, and A. W. J. Flack, secretary, will represent the Canadian Club of New York.

During the plaza ceremonies 10 airplanes of the 112th observation squadron, Ohio national guard, will circle high above the memorial.

Before the outdoor exercises the official dedication party will assemble in the rotunda of the memorial for the unveiling of four bronze tablets, one commemorating the treaty of 1817 between Great Britain and the United States, providing for the disarmament on the Great Lakes; another written by President Woodrow Wilson; another by President William Howard Taft and the fourth by the late Henry Watterson of Kentucky, who was vice president of the memorial commission.

The treaty tablet will be unveiled by President Scott of the Canadian Club and Mrs. Webster P. Huntington, wife of the commission president. Former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene will unveil the Wilson tablet, former United States Senator Charles Dick, the Taft tablet, and Milroy Watterson Miller and Kent Miller, granddaughter and grandson of Henry Watterson, the Watterson tablet.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Got into some new territory yesterday, not new to you perhaps, and yet not many people get back that far into the hinterland of Slippery Rock Township. Saw some new beauties that Lawrence County offers and some forest land that still has a lot of hardwoods on it.

The territory runs back up over the hills from the Heinz House camp, up an abandoned road. Years ago the road was used by the few farmers in that district but for many years it has been out of use both legally and actually. Winds up around hills and through valleys, and the years have grown dogwoods, sumacs and hazel bushes that form a verdant archway for a couple of miles. And down over the tops of the growth are wild grapes that tie the whole mass together and almost defy efforts to get through.

There is a view from one spot that would make a striking photograph. Standing on the top of it you can look far out across the Slippery Rock Valley to the south, over into Wayne Township. Up the creek a piece stretches Perry Township and still farther, Hell's Hollow.

Over across the creek rises a miniature mountain carpeted with oaks and spruces and hemlocks, birches and beeches and dogwoods, hickory and walnut and chestnut, with the entire mass looking from that distance like a huge green rug.

And down below it all the silver Slippery Rock, rushing down over the huge stones, swirling and gurgling and pushing its way along, a pencil of silver through a canvas of emerald.

It's days like yesterday that the secluded spots have their appeal. The highways were clogged with traffic and the usual chance taking, harum scarum drivers were on the road. Up in the woods a fellow is safe, with the only chances of adventure coming from a possible bee making a lunch off his neck, or now and then a slippery stone trying to upset him.

To the thousand and one organizations which strew the civic life of this country, add another one which has made its appearance, the S. O. S., which translated means Save Our Stage. In many cities the organization has been formed with the idea of bringing back the legitimate stage of the United States to where it once was, or nearly so.

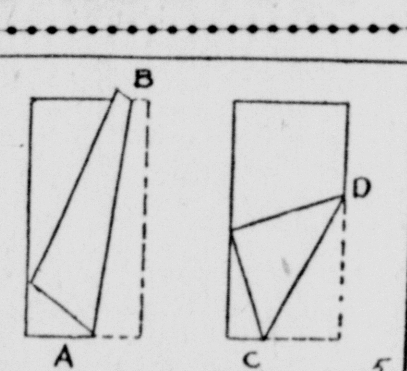

Such an organization was not entirely unexpected. After what some of these garbage can plays have done to the intelligence of the American playground public, the stage needs a lot of saving, to keep it from going down for the third time under a welter of dramatic muck, that offends the ears, outrages decency, and turns people from the legitimate drama to the canned variety. With all its faults, the talking screen at least has the supervision of censorship which prohibits language that would be in good form in a longshoreman's speakeasy.

Playwrights and actors can appeal to the sordid and the salacious only so long. Down at the bottom the American public's taste is still decent and while the playwrights camouflage their appeal to the animal instincts through an undesired ticket of "realism" it was only a question of time until they woke up with a start and found that such truck was ruining the stage.

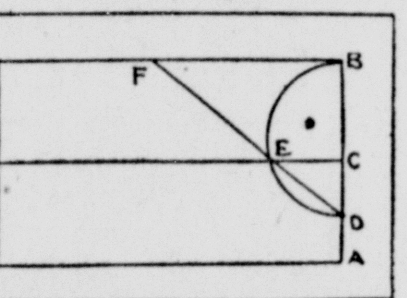

Such outstanding men of the American dramatic world as Arthur Hornblower and John Golden sounded the alarm some years ago but their voices were "voices in the wilderness." They warned their colleagues that it was up to them to clean up their own line. Now we have the stage folks themselves banding together in a desperate effort to bring back a demand for the spoken drama.

What we need is another generation of the Thewissen, the Bickes, the Skinnners and the Stones, with a creative generation of clean writing playwrights. When that time comes the tinselled unreality of the talking screen will not occupy the large share of the entertainment world that it does and the stage will have come back into its own.

Puzzlers

Fold a page so that the bottom outside corner touches the inside edge and the crease is the shortest possible. Above are two ways to crease the paper, but even CD is not the shortest crease possible.
ANSWER TO PUZZLE

Bisect AB in C and draw the line CG parallel to BH. Then bisect AC in D and draw the semi-circle DB cutting the line CG at E. Now the line DE gives the direction of the shortest possible crease, under the conditions.

Buildings Bombed Near Pittsburgh

Home In Mt. Washington, And Coraopolis Shoe Repair Shop Bombed

NO ONE INJURED IN TWO BOMBINGS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 27.—The home of Louis Implicciieri on Mt. Washington, was wrecked today by a bomb explosion which shook buildings in the downtown district of Pittsburgh.

The explosion was the second such blast in Allegheny county within the past 24 hours. In the earlier explosion, the shoe repair shop of Louis Gilberti, Coraopolis, was damaged.

Implicciieri, his wife, Anna, and their three children, Josephine, Louis and John, and Carmen and Mary Rizzo, residing in the adjoining house, were hurled from their beds by the explosion. None was injured. Windows in at least six houses in the vicinity were shattered.

Damage estimated at $1,500 resulted in the blast at the Gilberti shoe repair shop. No one was injured. Chief of Police S. J. Riddly said the explosion was caused by a time bomb.

The bomb was loaded with shrapnel which caused damage to other buildings as it flew across the street in the blast. Bits of the steel tower through the ceiling of the shop, penetrated the living room floor, and pierced the ceiling to the second floor.

Gilberti told police he had received no threatening letters and was unable to advance any clues.

Hotel Managers End Conference

Banquet Event Is Enjoyed At The Castleton Saturday Evening

Closing a two day session of conference and recreation, the managers of the American Hotel corporation held a banquet in The Castleton Saturday night, with the members of the Pittsburgh Hotelmen's association as their guests. In the afternoon the hotel men played golf at the New Castle Field club, no tournament being played, but an American manager playing against a Pittsburgh man as far as possible.

G. S. Lehner, manager of the Henry Hotel in Pittsburgh was the toastmaster and called for a few brief speeches from some of the guests present. Among those who spoke were Howard B. Richards, treasurer of The Castleton, John L. Black, manager of The Castleton, B. L. Swank of Greenville, president of the Pennsylvania Greeters association, Frank W. Trout of York, Pa., former president of the Pennsylvania Greeters, Doll M. Zirkle, of Alexandria, Va., president of the Washington, D. C., Greeters, H. J. Haas, technical supervisor of the American Hotels corporation, General J. Leslie Kincaid, could not stay for the dinner as business in New York called him back.

Mrs. Olive Kellner Preaches Sermon

An attentive crowd more than filled the tent at the corner of Mill and Friendship streets Sunday evening when Mrs. Olive Kellner of the First Pentecostal church addressed them on "The Two Ways," using an illustrated chart to bring out the points of her discourse, the broadway leads to destruction and the narrow way to Jesus Christ.

Rev. James Close of West Middlesex sang a most beautiful number and the quartet, Norman Spaw, Rose Webber, Clara Webber and Walter Bender, gave several selections.

The services in the tent are held nightly at 7:45 except Monday and Saturday.

Thursday night will be observed as Divine Healing night.

LONE CAR HAS WILD RIDE

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa.—A wild solo ride by a freight car through three boroughs as it loosed itself while being switched around the Mayfield yards of the New York, Ontario & Western railroad here ended after 15 minutes with its demolition against the locomotive of a freight train. During that time it crossed four crossings with highways. It was at night and the lone car had no lights burning.

BLIND, HE MAKES RADIOS

(International News Service)
NORRISTOWN, Pa.—Although he has been blind for many years and has never seen one of the newest radios, James Mullin has constructed many of the instruments and for some time was consultant builder for a radio concern. He has recently been taken for treatment to the League Island naval base hospital. He is a Spanish war veteran.

Reno Judges Are Quit Busy Today

Expect Ninety Or More Will Be Given Divorces In "Mill" Today

(International News Service)
RENO, Nev., July 27.—Reno's two captains of the "divorce industry," district judges Benjamin F. Currier and Thomas F. Moran today faced another busy "wash day" session, with socially prominent persons from New York City, Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles providing prospective highlights.

It was indicated ninety or more decrees would be granted during the day including Rheta A. Holland

Schuessler versus Erick L. Schuessler; married in Franklin, Pa., Jan. 1, 1930; cruelty.

Remove Porch At Mt. Vernon

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 27.—Mount Vernon is being made to appear more and more as it did when George Washington occupied the beautiful estate on the shores of the Potomac.

A porch added to the south end of the stately old building by one of Washington's descendants was removed this week. The work is being done in preparation for the bicentennial celebration next year.
